Seventy-five Years

And Look at Us Now

Emmerich Manual High School, celebrating her seventy-fifth birthday can look back to 1895 when she began as an industrial training school. Our Diamond Anniversary Ivian shows Manual today — a comprehensive high school with an enrollment of some 2,200 students. Our present building, now seventeen years old, is completely modern and well-equipped for all academic and vocational courses. Manual has graduated more than 20,800 persons during her seventy-five years as the second oldest high school in Indianapolis.

On a dark and dreary morning, Manualites trudge to early classes, through inches of snow which covered the city during December and January, while temperatures stayed near zero.

As We Fit 1970

C/Lt. Col. James McDaniel, Honorary Cadet Becky Benjamin, and C/Capt. Gaylen Fox display one of the several trophies won by the ROTC this year.

Manual's band played at the airport to welcome President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon when he came to Indianapolis to attend the mayors' meeting.

The Redskin Marching Band had the honor of playing on Monument Circle at the lighting of the "World's Largest Christmas Tree," the Soldiers and Sailors Monument.

End to End'

We will well remember 1970, not only as Manual's seventy-fifth year, but because many important happenings hold indelible places in our minds. Our ROTC, band, athletic teams, actors, publications, and many individuals have done honor to themselves and the school through achievement and service to the Manual community.

Manual twirlers perform with the band to entertain the crowds waiting to greet President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon at Weir Cook Airport.

Ceremonies Honor Homecoming Royalty

Varsity Cheerleaders Debbie Smith, Debbie Baker, and Sandy Robinson, followed by the rest of their squad, wave their pom-poms as they lead the team onto the field to start the game.

Festivities for Manual's seventeenth Homecoming were staged during halftime of the Manual-Arlington game. The Redskin Marching Band came onto the field, forming an "M" as they played. The candidates arrived in open convertibles driven by lettermen and circled the field on the track before alighting to go to center field for the coronation. The girls wore colorful short formals, and each carried a longstemmed white mum with a red "M" mounted on it and with red and white streamers. The boys had white carnations pinned to their lapels. Indian Papooses carried the crowns.

Junior Tim Updike gave the sealed envelope to Principal Wayne H. Kincaid, and after he announced the new royalty, King Manual XVII, Mike Crafton, and his Queen, Vickie Steele, were crowned by last year's King and Queen, Don Norcross and Ruthie Smith. The Band played "Miss America" as Mike and Vicki walked down the traditional white carpet. Mr. Wendell Mertz, director of the choir, sang "Queen of Manual High" to that tune, and then sang "Girl of My Dreams," accompanied by the Girls' Glee Club.

Many alumni returned for the game, and the fans wore mums in honor of Homecoming. The weather was pleasant, and the colorful festivities made it a thrilling evening. Opponent Arlington was uncooperative, however, as they downed the Redskins.

Freshmen Football Players Joe Snyder and Ken Goulding roll out the white carpet for the Homecoming King and Queen candidates to travel to the center of the field for the coronation. Flanking the carpet are members of the Glee Club in red and white garb.

Mike Crafton and Vicki Steele, King Manual XVII and his Queen, wear their crowns as they take a turn around the track and wave to Manual fans and visitors to close the half-time festivities. It was a chilly evening but thrill and excitement warmed the "stars."

Manual Opens Doors to Visitors for AEW

Principal Wayne H. Kincaid briefs his turnabout, James McDaniel, for carrying out the duties of "Big Chief" for a day.

"Better Education — Your Job" was the theme for American Education Week in November. Many Manualites and their families, including younger brothers and sisters, took advantage of the opportunity of Open House, November 12, and visited with teachers. Guests looked in on classrooms to see where their particular teen-agers spend their days and viewed student work, bulletin boards, and class projects. Uniformed ROTC cadets served as doormen and offered assistance and directions. Members of the Student Affairs Board distributed directories locating teachers and departments.

The Girls' Glee Club and the National Thespians presented an auditorium program featuring Manual's seventy-five years. The girls sang numbers that corresponded to the historic events from the school's past narrated by the Thespians.

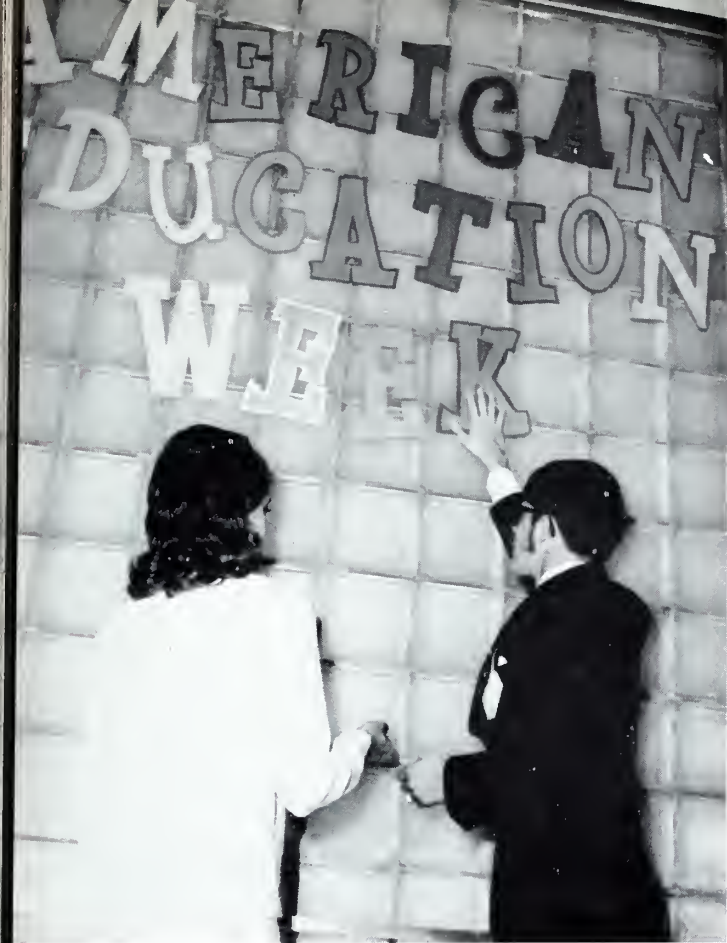

Another event of AEW was "Turnabout Day." Teachers invited seniors to act as their counterparts for the day, and Turnabouts were teachers' guests for lunch. All participating students and their sponsors were entertained at a P-TA Tea in the Home Economics practice room after school.

The Art Department made large psychedelic letters which were mounted above the main stairway, and artists filled the display cases in the entrance with other colorful AEW advertising.

Girls' Glee Club sings under the direction of Mrs. Martha Cross for the American Education Week Auditorium. The program was built around the school's seventy-five year history. The girls sang numbers from various periods of Manual's past.

Sophomore Stuart Sutliff and his family visit with Mr. David Otto, his biology teacher, during AEW Open House night.

Seniors Darrell Sparks and Ida McGlaughlin mount the last letter on the glass block wall of the main stairway.

Bill Martin, Beverly Butler, Mrs. Martha Cross, Kathy Stace, and Miss Helen Reed are served by Mrs. Marvin Herbig at the P-TA Tea for Turnabout teachers.

Telephone 'Bells Are Ringing' in Musical

Gwynne (Sheila Betzler) chats with Ella while suave, sneaky Sandor listens in. Gynne also works at 'Susanswerphone'.

Ella (Terri Glass) works at Susanswerphone as an operator. She not only takes calls but gets involved with clients.

Sandor (Gaylan Fox) is on his phone taking racing bets. In one song, he tells fellow-bookies about his system.

As Choir, Orchestra Unite for Gala Show

Both cast and audience enjoyed the presentation of "Bells are Ringing" by Manual's Music Department. Its annual musical production was November 20 and 21. The show first appeared on Broadway in 1957, starring Judy Holliday and Sidney Chapling, and was later made into a movie.

The plot is centered around "Susanswerphone," a telephone answering service owned and operated by Sue (Jean Ruoff) and Ella (Terri Glass) Peterson. Ella, who constantly becomes involved in other persons' lives, falls in love with customer Jeff Moss (Bruce Haddix), a writer whom she has never met. Jeff experiences trouble in his attempt to write a play, and Ella is determined to help him.

Meanwhile, Sue falls in love with Sandor (Gaylen Fox), who is the dapper president of Titanic Records. This company is a front for his book-making business with an ingenious code for horse betting which is called through the answering service.

Later, Ella meets Jeff and gets him to start his play. The police discover trouble of some kind and close in. As they do, a slip is made in an order and bookies become unhappy with the head of Titanic Records. Sandor is later revealed, and all ends well between Jeff and Ella.

Several weeks of practice climaxed into another successful production of the Music Department.

Bruce Haddix plays Jeff Moss, an aspiring writer, who meets Ella as a result of her nosiness. Later they fall in love.

The entire cast of "Bells Are Ringing" pours onto the stage for the finale number of "I Met A Girl." The show involved a variety of singing, dancing, and acting and this made a colorful picture.

School Dances Highlight Our Social Life

Seniors Mike Crafton and Jana O'Donald are crowned King Ivan and Queen Ann at the "Pic Parade," an annual Ivian dance.

Week-end dances highlighted the social life of many Manualites. Dances gave the students a chance to release the strain of a hard week of schoolwork, become better acquainted, and have a good time.

Top-named bands were special attractions of the Roines Romps. This year the Roines presented "The Boys Next Door" and "The Idle Few."

The Masomas sponsored a semi-formal, turnabout dance in January, "The Winter World of Love."

At the Pic Parade, an Ivian dance, underclass pictures were distributed and exchanged. Every ticket to this dance was a vote for King Ivan and Queen Ann. Candidates were chosen in Senior Home Room. Mike Crafton and Jana O'Donald were named royalty at the dance by vote of all attending.

The ROTC cadets and sponsors looked forward to their annual Military Ball. This year's dance was on March 7 in Manual's cafeteria. Becky Benjamin was voted Military Ball Queen by the Cadets.

Anticipation of the Junior Prom ran rampant throughout the Junior Class for weeks before the prom. New formals and accessories were purchased, hair appointments made, tuxedos rented, and dinner reservations and after-Prom parties planned. The Indiana University Medical Center was the site for this year's prom, and Junior Prom King and Queen were announced. The Skyliners provided music.

The seniors topped off busy last-week-of-school with their Senior Prom at the Southside K. of C.

Military Ball Queen and her court are Peggy Stroud, Paula Perdue, Debby Bowles, Queen Becky Benjamin, and Nancy Bates. The five senior ROTC sponsors were candidates.

Senior Anthony Hollis, representing the Redskin Revue, and the choir sings "Born Free" to the audience during the Ivian auditorium program. This aud is to give Redskins a "sneak preview" of what will be in this year's Ivian and to promote sales.

Auditorium Programs Add Education, Fun

Auditorium programs added education and fun to the daily routines of Manualites. Entertainment varied from the Indianapolis Symphony to student talent in the Tee Pee Talent Parade. The famous musician Kenneth Goodman presented a variety of music on his organ during an enjoyable program.

A Junior Achievement presentation and an American Legion Aud on communism provided much interesting and valuable information for students.

Speakers during the Opportunity Day Aud stressed the importance of preparing for the future and the necessity of getting a good education.

In October, the Ivian started its sales promotion campaign with an Aud that gave the students samples of events that would be covered in the yearbook.

Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Memorial Day programs helped commemorate and celebrate holidays.

Ivian Co-editors Kathy Gabonay and Nancy Hendricks shake hands with Mr. Charles E. Emmerich, Manual's first principal, who is impersonated by Mr. Dennis Jackson, English teacher.

Organist Kenneth Goodman entertains students during an Aud. Mr. Goodman, a graduate from Juilliard School of Music in New York City, has performed throughout the world.

Redskin Band Plays for President Nixon

"Hail to the Chief!" is played by a group of Indianapolis high school bands, including Manual's, as President and Mrs. Richard Nixon descend from Air Force 1 at Weir Cook Airport.

The visit of President Richard M. Nixon added a spark of excitement to the everyday life of Indianapolis and Manual in February. The Redskin Marching Band had the honor and privilege of joining six other Indianapolis high school bands to perform for the President at the airport.

While waiting for the President's arrival, the various bands presented a concert for the crowd. For Manual's part in the entertainment, the Redskins played, among other numbers, "Hello Dolly," "Step to the Rear," and "March America." The weather made the wait seem endless; it was rainy and chilly, but faces shone with anticipation.

President Nixon was accompanied by his wife and eight Cabinet members. The combined bands played the traditional "Hail to the Chief" as the President stepped off the plane. The president spoke briefly to the crowd. While he and Cabinet members met with Mayor Richard G. Lugar and mayors from nine other cities of comparable size to discuss urban problems, Mrs. Nixon was taken on a tour of such places as Christamore Settlement House and Noble School for Retarded Children.

Since the buses returned so late with the band, the cafeteria was already closed. The hungry bandsmen were dismissed for the rest of the day.

Drum major Mike Christie and Band Director William D. Kleyla get the band members ready to salute the President in their part of the welcoming ceremony. It was a drab and chilly day, but the thrill and excitement warmed everyone.

Part of the more than 950 persons attending the Alumni Birthday Party at the Scottish Rite Cathedral listen to Dean Herb Schowmeyer of Butler University, toastmaster.

Alumni Fete Manual's Diamond Birthday

Students and alumni enjoyed celebrating the school's Seventy-fifth Anniversary many times during this year. A special auditorium program in early fall related much of Manual's history and success.

Miss Carolyn Griffin, English teacher, compiled a 72-page booklet entitled "Emmerich Manual High School, A History, 1895-1969." The book contains facts about all the different activities around Manual for her seventy-five years of existence.

Highlight of the year's celebrations was the Alumni Dinner-Dance. This Diamond Jubilee party, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on February 14, brought some 950 graduates and teachers together. More than 15,000 announcements were sent to alumni all over the world, and Principal Wayne H. Kincaid invited alums to visit the school.

Emcee for the after-dinner program was Dean Herb Schwomeyer, Butler University, a grad.

Mr. Henry Roberts, a 1909 grad, was recipient of the "Alumnus of the Year" Award presented at the anniversary celebration. Mr. Roberts said that he was graduated from Purdue University in only three years because of his excellent Manual background in math, science, and industrial arts.

Manual was honored by a letter from President Richard M. Nixon congratulating her on her Seventy-fifth Anniversary and proud history.

Traveling Redskins, members of Manual's band, were chauffeured to perform at the President's reception at the airport and to the Diamond Jubilee dinner in chartered buses.

'Heart' Man Tells P-TA His 'Life' Story

Among the hardest working people at Manual are the moms, dads, and teachers. As members of the P-TA and Dads Club, parents and teachers sponsor various activities to make money for Manual and her students. The benefit money is used for extras for which no official funds provide, such as summer workshops and camps, scholarships, and uniforms, and also unexpected emergencies.

P-TA concession stands provided refreshments at the football games, and the Dads Club sold snacks to treat the fans at home basketball games.

The WIFE-faculty basketball game was a popular money-making event of the Dads Club. Dads also raised money selling "White Elephant" merchandise at their annual auction in the fall. Moms and Dads also financed Athletic Banquets.

On April 17, the P-TA sponsored the annual Pow Wow, their biggest money-raising activity of the year. Game booths were set up in the gym, and assorted items were sold to Redskins and visitors. The cafeteria housed a supper and dance, and the auditorium was the "playhouse" for a show.

Principal Wayne H. Kincaid showed films of his European tour at the first P-TA meeting of the school year. On February 4, the members celebrated Founders Day with a birthday party.

Mrs. William Housam, seated, and her daughter, future Redskin Ruth Ellen, accept the P-TA membership fees from Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drake. The table was set up in the main entrance of the school on the night of Open House to encourage parents to join.

Students View 'Bests' at Projects Fair

Sophomores Jolitta Strait, Susan Marcum, and Kathy Lewis admire the ribbon-winning writings entered by English classes. Various levels of English wrote in specified competitions.

Senior Sandy Hodges is intrigued with the colorful posters displayed at the Fair by the Commercial Art class. Other art exhibits were oil and water color paintings and crafts.

Mammal students have a chance to show off their good work at the end of each year at the annual Projects Fair. Teachers select the best work from each class to be displayed in the gym. These are judged, and the best three in each category are awarded blue, red, or white ribbons. Honorable Mentions also provide incentive.

The Fair is open to classes during the first four periods of "Fair Day" so students can see the successes of their classmates. Teachers and groups of students wander about, viewing the winning entries.

The Art Department covers one wall with student work, some done with India ink and water color, while others are in tempera or oil. Cases of crafts and jewelry are also exhibited.

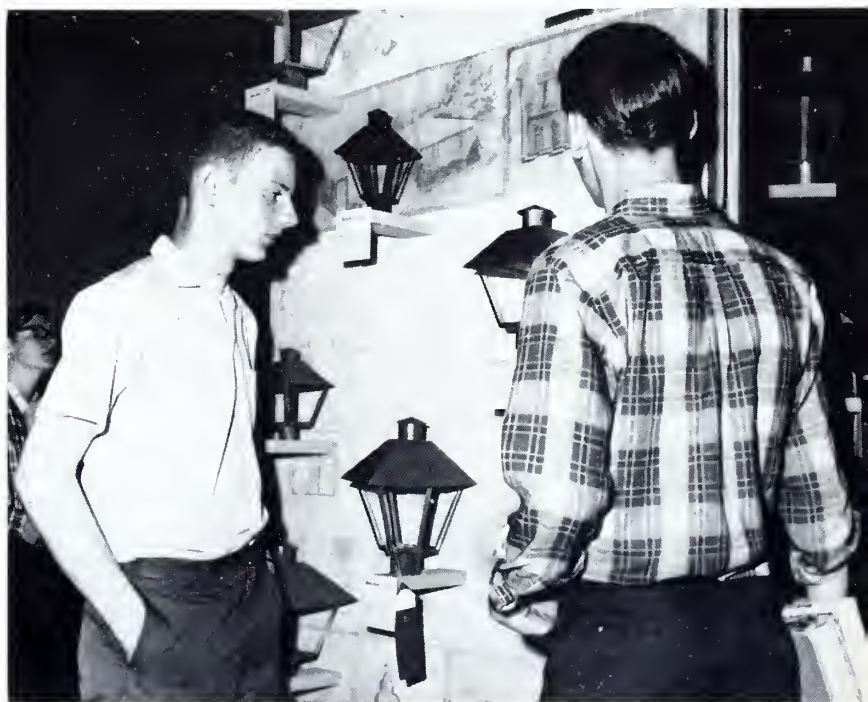

Home Economics always has a "delicious" display from the Foods classes. Many exhibits from Clothing show the prowess of seamstresses and their ability to make their own clothes.

Stories, essays, poems, and expository writings line the wall of the English Department's section. Social Studies classes show projects that have developed from topical studies and discussions.

Industrial Arts students display articles constructed for use in the home and workshop.

Science projects and experiments always attract crowds of interested, curious spectators.

James Hooper and Steve Craeger, juniors, eye the display of wall lamps for porch use made by the boys in metal shop. Other Industrial Arts classes also contributed "bests."

'Those Warring Twenties' Dominate 'Revue'

The She-Devil, (Patty Nevil), sings "Get Us Down Below on Time," a parody to "Get Me to the Church on Time," to the Devil, (Mark Ellis), in the act "Go to . . ."

The 1970 Redskin Revue "Best Act" winner was "Those Warring Twenties," written by Seniors Rodney Lomax and Tony Hollis. This Forty-first All-school Show was presented on March 20 and 21. John Doyle and Demetrai Mitchell were Co-chairmen.

Individual winners in "Those Warring Twenties" were John Doyle, Best Male Performer, in the role of Johnnie-I'm-a-Meanie; Joyce Thompson, Best Female Performer, as Bunnie Clyde; Tony Hollis, Best Male Vocalist, who played Elliot Mess; and Debbie Clark as Sophie won the Vignette Award.

The Best Choreographers Award went to Vicki and Judy Steele whose routine by the Starliters was in "Best of Both Worlds," written by Jeanette Bair and Bill Jarvis. Jim McDaniel, also of this act, won Best Comic. The Best Chorus Line was the Devil's Delight in "Go to . . ." written by Norman Zaenglein and Paul Herbig.

Sheila Betzler won Best Female Vocalist for her song as Peppermint Patty in "Nuts to You," by Peggy McRoy, Bruce Haddix, and Marilyn Lindstrom.

Several hundred Manualites rehearsed for four weeks for this traditional program. The Pit Band also put in hours and hours of practice. For the first time, the Pit Band had a student directing — Senior Jan Hoffmeister. The Stage Crew produced four custom-made sets for the show.

Also important was the Redskin Revue Chorus Line, which opened and closed the show.

Anthony Hollis leads the cast of "Those Warring Twenties" in the finale with the song, "Those Were the Days." This act was the winner of the coveted "Best Act Award," and Tony won "Best Male Vocalist."

Forty-first Show Displays Talent, Ingenuity

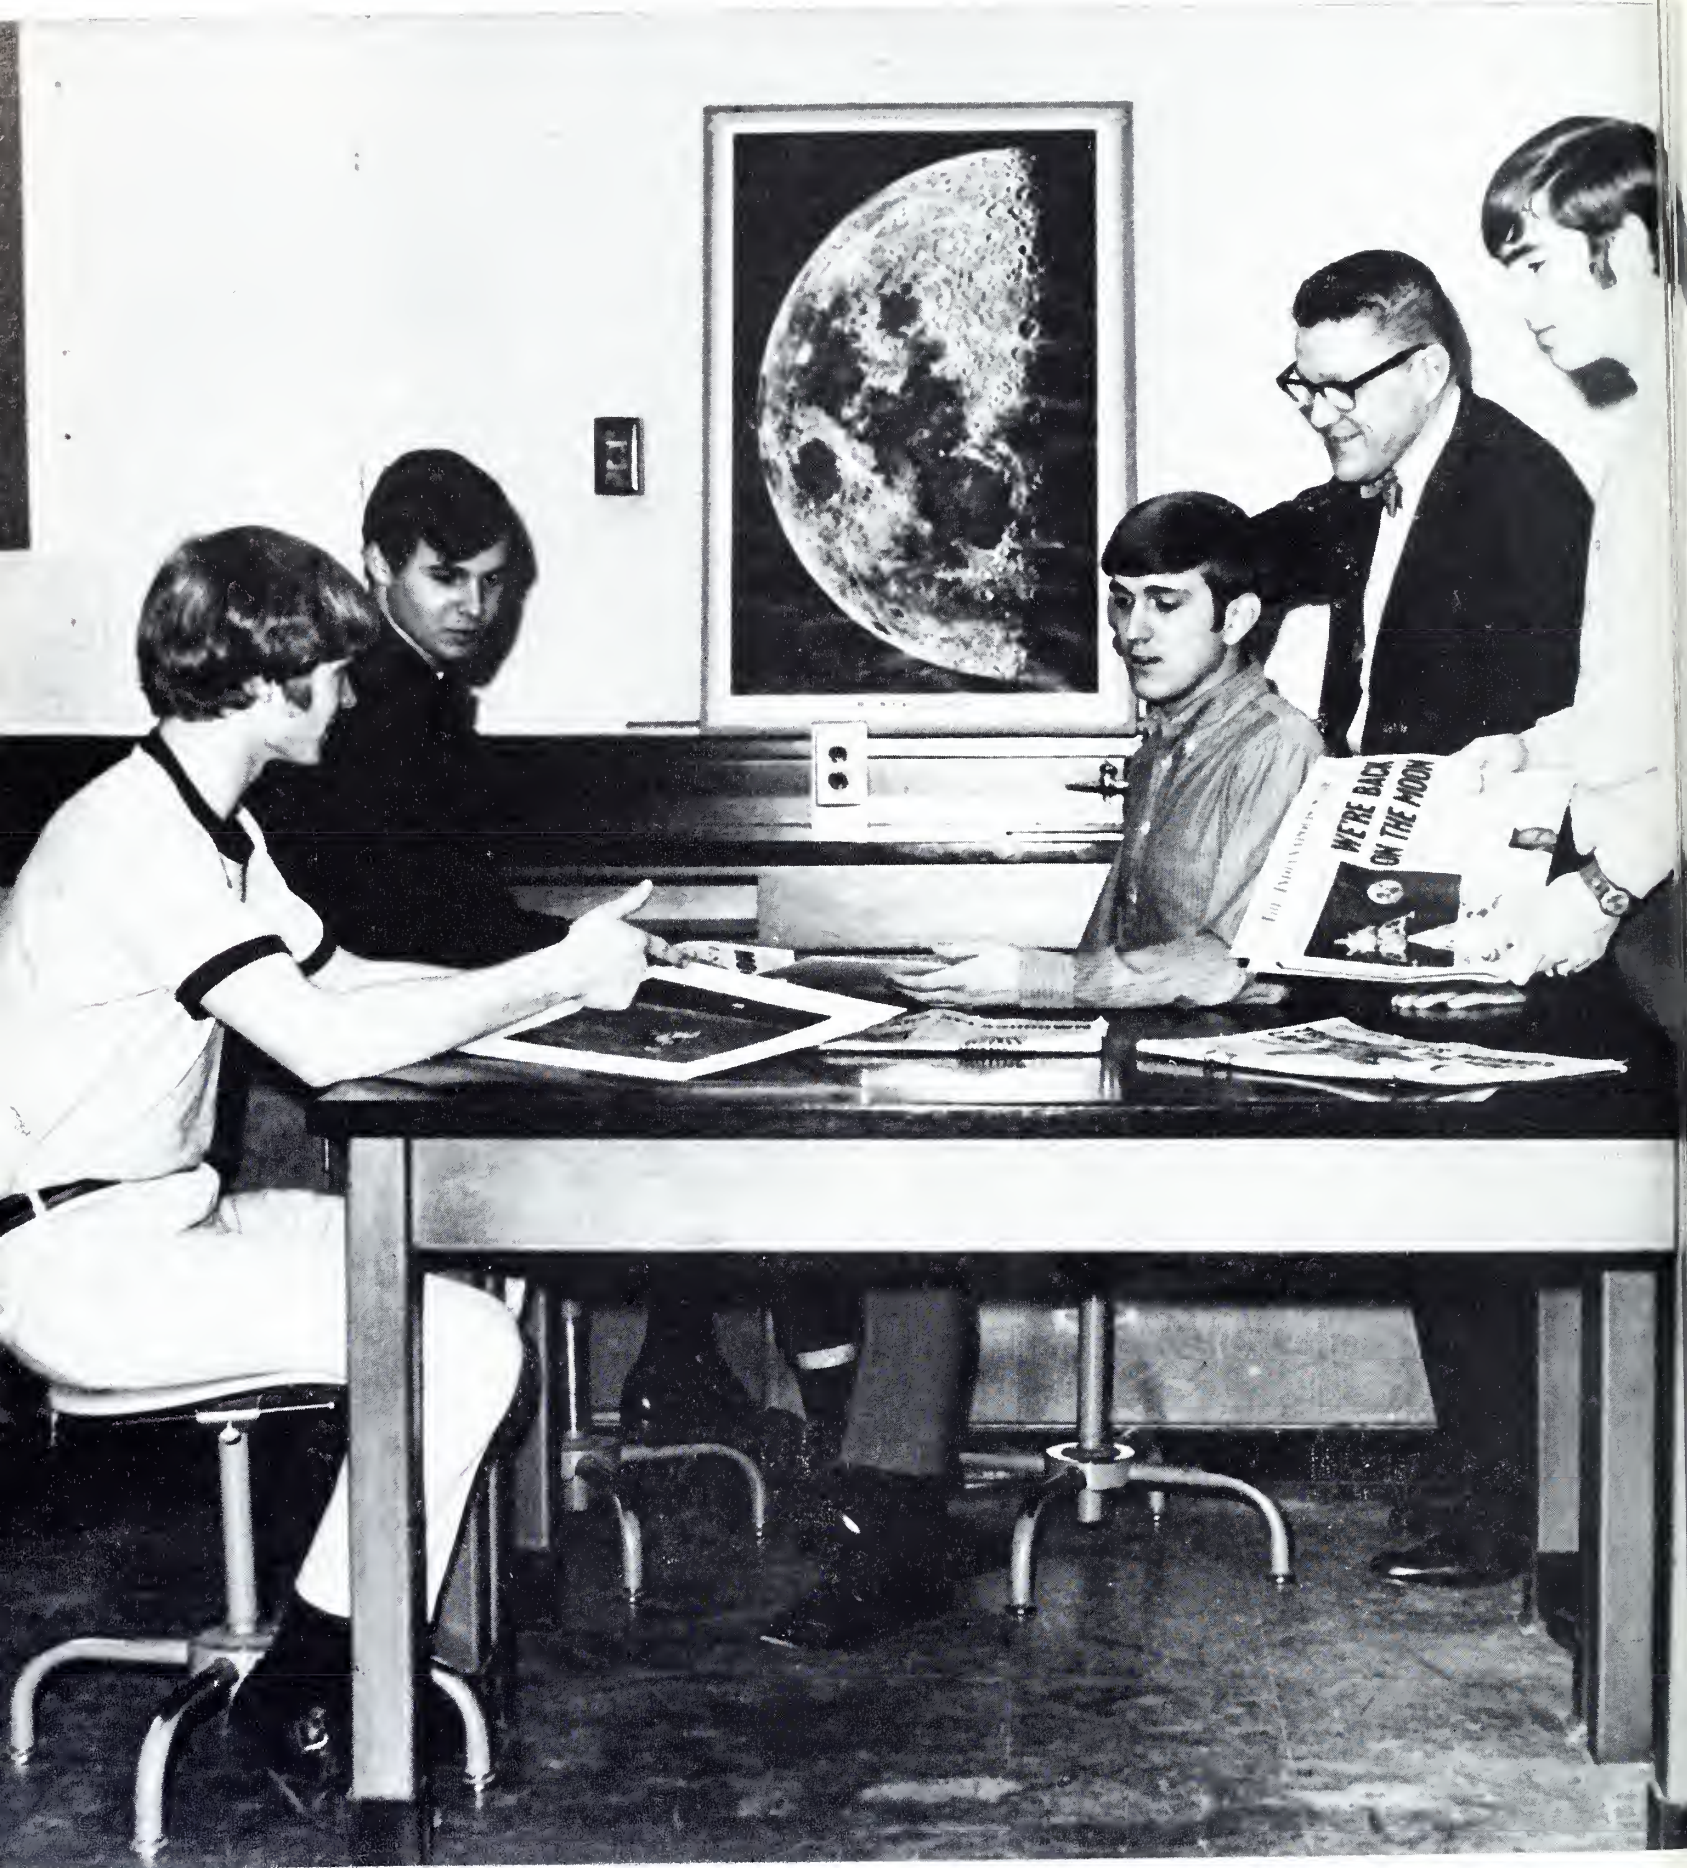

Leo, a member of the Zodiac, portrayed by Jim McDaniel, is doing his belly dance. Jim won "Best Comic Portrayal" for his performance in the act "Best of Both Worlds."

Snoopy, (Mike Mitchell), and Charlie Brown, (Dale Petrie), are dancing happily at their reunion after Charlie Brown's baseball team won its game that returned Snoopy to him.

A student at Manual spends most of his time in academic pursuits. Manualites want more than the basics of an education, so they choose elective courses that catch their interest. Classes build character as well as knowledge, as students strive for perfection, and teachers and counselors offer their help. Whether headed for the business world, homemaking, craft, or college, Redskins can get the preparation they need. Look at us now, in our

Diamond Year of Learning

English Department and Library in Cahoots

Manual's first "Book Fair," set up in the library by the librarians and the English Department, was visited by English classes at assigned times during its two-day duration. The wide variety of "paperbacks" proved popular and interesting to students allowed to browse at will around the display.

Mr. Dennis Jackson, English teacher, and Miss Ritajo Stanger, library clerk, man the cashiers' table with the help of two library assistants. Students purchased numerous "Fair" books.

Books are always available from the display rack in the bookstore. Sophomores Paula Pierce and Jan McGraw have come from lunch to select books for their English class reports.

Make Readers of Many Manualites

English, the largest department at Manual, continues to give students a broad background in all aspects of our language. Pupils are well prepared in the practical uses of grammar and composition as well as in the appreciation of literature.

New this year was the Book Fair located in the library. Sponsored by the English Department and the library, the Fair was designed to encourage Manualites to read for pleasure. The Fair proved successful as 921 books were sold to students.

The Humanities class, which studies the development of Western Civilization, took field trips to enrich their education. Last fall, they visited many interesting places during a trip to Chicago and attended an opera at Indiana University.

Histolish continues to flourish as a core course for selected juniors. The class correlates United States History and American Literature. Emphasis in written work was on formal and informal essays.

Etymology, a study of Greek and Latin derivations, helps to build students' vocabularies.

Speech class stresses oral expression and helps students develop their speaking abilities.

Manual Manuscripts, an English Department publication, included samples of writing compiled from all classes. This year's was Volume IX.

Checking with students as they work on an assigned grammar exercise is Mrs. Susan McCallum. Junior Sharlene Butler gets special help with a "rough" sentence in this English VI class.

All Manualites at one time or another are assigned to Developmental Reading Lab. All freshmen spend six weeks of Orientation using the shadowsopes and other equipment to speed up their reading. Here Mrs. Polly Sterling supervises a sophomore class during their weekly lab period.

Senior Robby Steele who spent summer '69 in Italy on the "Honors Abroad" program discusses his experiences with Juniors Anne Hathaway and Jean Ruoff, both of whom were candidates this year. They missed out on the "last lap" of the keen competition.

Languages Foster Study Discipline

Many hours of memorizing vocabulary, expressions, and grammar rules are spent by Redskins in the foreign language classes. The study of the history of the countries and customs of the people add variety and background to the languages.

Spanish draws the majority of language students. An addition in this department is the Spanish 3x class which places the freshmen who have had two years of Spanish in junior high in a special class.

A main project for the students in the combined third and fourth year French class was reading the novel "Le Petit Prince" and discussing the author's philosophy. The class also turned in scrapbooks at the end of the year. Pen pals are a fun and popular way of practicing and improving French.

Latin students Anne Hathaway and Jean Ruoff competed in the Indiana University Honors program for a trip to Italy during the coming summer. After coming out on top of the first round of competition, both girls fell in the last elimination.

The well-equipped language lab aids the students in listening and pronouncing the languages.

Mr. Carsey Gentry assigns sentences to Spanish students Becky Hendricks and Linda Clark to translate. Scott Johnson and Carl Schnepf are writing their translations on the chalkboard.

Social Studies Ready Us for Adult Living

Three years of Social Studies are required for an Academic or a Fine and Practical Arts diploma. A variety of courses are offered to fill the bill.

World History, mainly a freshman course, gives a broad view of the history of the various governments and countries. To make events more real, students often act out historical happenings.

All juniors take United States History to learn more of their American background. Histlish, a special two-period, two-semester course for selected juniors, combines History with English, coordinating history and literature.

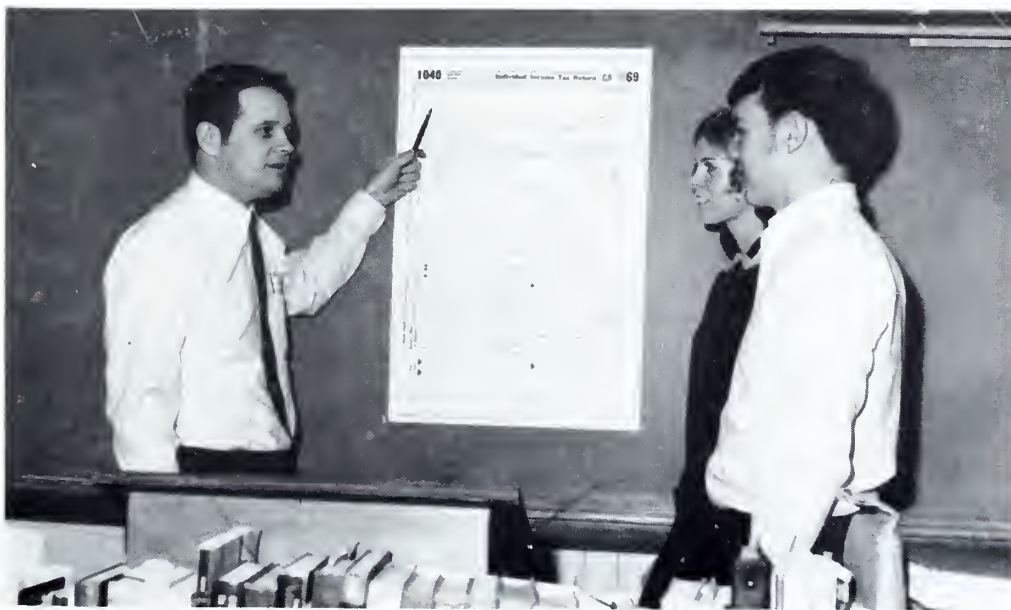

Economics and Government are also required courses and are taken during the senior year. Both courses deal with contemporary issues, and students prepare for adult life by learning of the functions of national, state, and local government. Such projects as preparation of income tax returns add practical adaption to lessons.

Citizenship is also a contemporary class for freshmen, helping pupils understand their rights and responsibilities as Americans.

International Relations and Psychology are elective courses offered to upperclassmen who have an interest in studying foreign affairs and in delving into the workings of the human mind.

A World History class dramatizes the fall of the Byzantine Empire. David Sease portrays the Byzantine king who is being stabbed by Matt Maple, a Turk. The students on the left represent the Turks, with the Byzantines on the right.

Seniors in Mr. Fred Belser's Economics class learn the "ins and outs" of preparing a Federal Income Tax form. Here, Mr. Belser points out necessary items on a giant-size Form 1040 to Sharon Boyd and Mike Campbell. Such information will soon be useful to many, as it already is to some.

Math, Science Stretch Inquisitive Minds

Mr. Harold Baumer works out an equation in Algebra II on the chalkboard for two students, Barbara Dawson and Rod Bruce.

Equations and problems stumped the students in both Math and Science courses. Freshmen started with General Math or Algebra 1, and Geometry perplexed the sophomores with its numerous theorems and corollaries. Algebra 3 and 4, Trigonometry, and Analytical Geometry intrigued juniors and seniors.

Biology, which is required of all students, was taken by the sophomores. Biologists tackled life from the world of micro-organisms to the structure of man. Contradictory to what the girls thought, they lived through the frog dissection.

A choice of Earth Science and Science is offered for those who are not as competent in Math. Earth Science deals with rocks, soil, conservation, and the atmosphere. A double period course, Earth Science provides students with a broad practical knowledge of their environment. Science is a course in which subject matter is drawn from the physical sciences. It deals with atomic and molecular structure, chemical reactions, and electricity.

Slide rules were extremely helpful in Chemistry to solve problems involving weight, mass, and volume. Working with chemicals in the lab was a favorite of the chemists. No one was allowed in the lab area without goggles and, preferably, with a long apron. Physics classes studied the nature of energy in motion, heat, light, and electricity.

Seniors Fred Brown and Steve Murray assist their physics teacher, Mr. Stephen Sharpee, with a cross bow they are about to shoot to calculate the acceleration of gravity — a graphic lesson for out-of-doors study.

Mr. Rex Lewis demonstrates the movement of molecules in the study of gas laws for his chemistry class with a chamber rigged to a vacuum sweeper. Students involved are Gwen Bowers, Ed Burgin, and LaDora Baird.

Biologists Sherry Huston and Shirley Freeman check a bacteria culture-dish under the supervision of Mr. Fred Jones. "Specimens" were obtained from various parts of the building.

Senior John Newman and Junior Vera King watch Mr. Otto Kuehrmann perform on his "magic violin" which he always employed when teaching about sound waves in Physical Science class.

Lab Assistants Steve Hendricks and Dale Petrie make up models of molecules from plastic and styrofoam for use in chemistry.

Girls Develop Knack For 'Home' Skills

Manual girls find classes in Home Economics promising for the future. Many students, not on the academic track, are interested in home and domestic training. Others take these classes as electives to add variety and cultivate useful skills.

In Clothing, girls develop a knack for sewing. These seamstresses learn to follow pattern directions and to use sewing machines well.

Delightful aromas fill the hall on second floor as Foods classes function. Students are taught to measure accurately and follow recipes carefully. Advanced Foods classes practice what they learn by serving "banquets" to guests. Girls plan, prepare, and serve a meal after sending bids to teachers who are available at the right time.

Social Practice classes train girls to use proper etiquette; Family Living and Home Management ready them for future home situations. Senior girls learn to care for the sick through book study and practical application in Home Nursing.

Sewing a fine seam is Bette Lasley as she stitches a garment she is making as a project for Clothing. Girls not only use the latest model machines but also learn to care for them.

Home Economics displays at the Projects Fair at the close of school attract wide attention. Judy Roberts and Nita Horn check identifying tags to find their friends' entries.

Serving a luncheon table is Peggy Fikes, a student in Mrs. Blanche Ruston's Advanced Foods class. Vice-principal E. Franklin Fisher is a guest at this real "practice" party.

Business 'Know How' Helps for School Jobs

Preparation for the business world is an important aspect of Manual's curriculum. Students have a choice of thirteen business courses that are valuable for summer jobs and future careers.

Typing seems to be the most popular business course because it is a great aid to everyone. Beginning typists tried to keep their eyes focused on the copy as they practiced daily drills. Temptations to look at the keys were overcome by the knowledge that their speed would suffer.

The scrawl in the shorthand book was strange to students at first, but daily practice and push, with the aid of dictaphones, increased accuracy.

Master, Intermediate, and Primary typing awards were given at the end of each six-weeks' grading period. Eligibility for these awards is determined by timed writings. Shorthand awards are also given to students who can transcribe with 95 percent accuracy.

Miss Annes Patton checks Sharon Baxter's typing lesson and, from her expression, it must look good. Typing is the most popular business course offered as it is useful to everyone.

Richard Breedlove points out locations on the map for Wanda Logan as she discusses the economics of living in various parts of the world for their Economic Geography Class.

Business services and procedures were begun in General Business, and Economic Geography followed with the relationship between physical and economic factors in man's environment.

Business Law presented legal aspects of business. Salesmanship was clarified when students studied advertising in and out of the classroom.

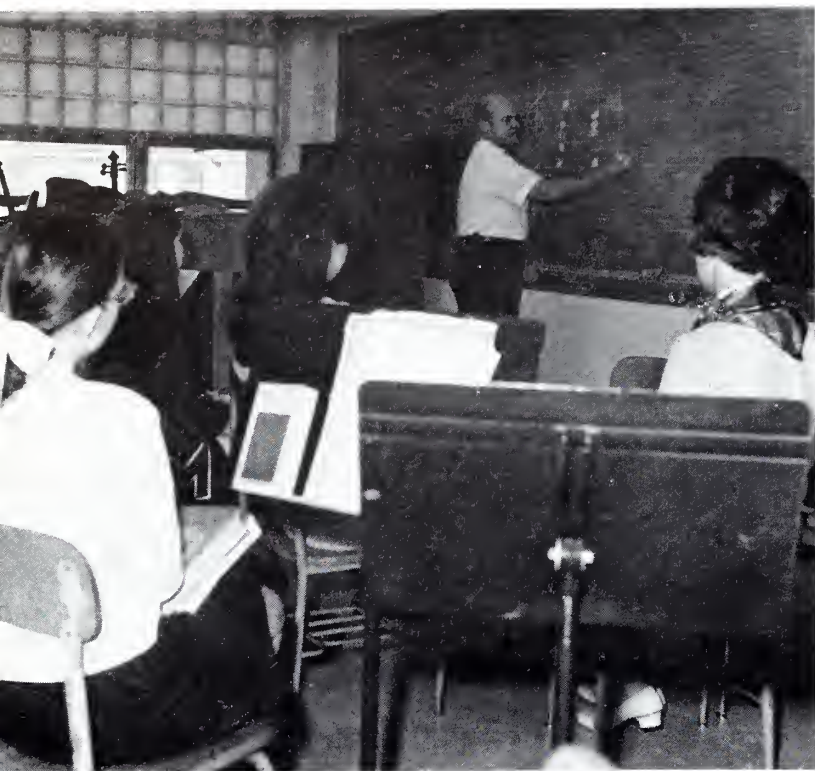

The use of computers and punch cards in Data Processing and calculators in Machine Calculation gave students some needed experience.

Filing and Secretarial Practice add to the girls' efficiency in training for office work.

Business Arithmetic teaches math skills for office or personal use, and Bookkeeping classes study business transactions and accounting. Consumer Education rounds out a complete program of business training — a great opportunity for all Redskins.

Music and Art Supply Cultural Aspects

Mr. Wendell Mertz shows a Music Theory class how to write four-part harmony, which they will use in attempting compositions of their own. Students in this class study some of the classics and learn to appreciate the works of the masters.

Music and art contribute to the cultural background of Manual's students. All types of instruments are tackled by band and orchestra members. Students who like to sing, enjoy the Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club, Chorus classes, and Choir. Singers are offered the experience of small group singing through the Glee-ettes and Manualaires. These persons, selected by the vocal music directors from the Girls' Glee Club and Choir, fulfill public requests for small vocal groups. Music theory teaches sight reading and ear training and requires students to write original compositions.

Manual art students received nine Scholastic Gold Key Awards and sixteen Honorable Mentions in the 1970 Regional Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition of Central Indiana. For those students who are artistically inclined there are many art courses.

Double periods and eight semesters allow artists much time to develop their talents. Art classes start with a basic course in freehand drawing, design, and painting. Creative and technical phases follow. Silk screen processing is learned in Commercial Art. Craft Art teaches students to make objects with leather, plastics, textiles, and clay. Crafts also include a jewelry class in which students design original jewelry. Art Appreciation offers students an understanding of the evolution of art, and the class takes trips to local museums.

A freshmen chorus class pays careful attention to the directions of Mrs. Martha Cross as they practice a number for the Music Festival. Manualites who enjoy singing fill six beginning and advanced chorus classes during each school day.

To Round Out Our Education

Diana Johnson and Marlene Lovejoy are doing two different types of finger weaving in a craft class. With gaily colored yarns, students make decorative items for home use and gifts.

By knotting and looping heavy ecru-colored linen cord, Randy Richards is creating a macrame which will be an interesting and attractive "conversation piece" to hang in his home.

Art classes move out-of-doors with drawing boards and stools to take advantage of campus scenes for sketches and water colors. Mr. Don Johnson and his artists are by the creek.

Susan Nicks and Tom Stewart are "throwing" pieces of clay on the potter's wheels in the craft arts shop. Their finished products will be glazed in the kiln for permanent finish.

Junior James Coles operates a bench lathe in Metal Shop. According to shop instructors, this machine is a "'backbone of industry'; therefore, learning to operate it is a 'must' for Jim and all shop majors. Good jobs are open in industry to boys who do well in Manual's Industrial Arts courses.

Senior Steve Murray designs his "dream house" in his Architectural Drawing class. This and mechanical drawing prove great aids to boys planning to be engineers or architects.

Mike Blanton, a senior in Manual's Electronics class, tests distortions in his radio with an oscilloscope. The use of this instrument is mastered by all Electronics students.

Industrial Arts Prepare for Hobbies, Work

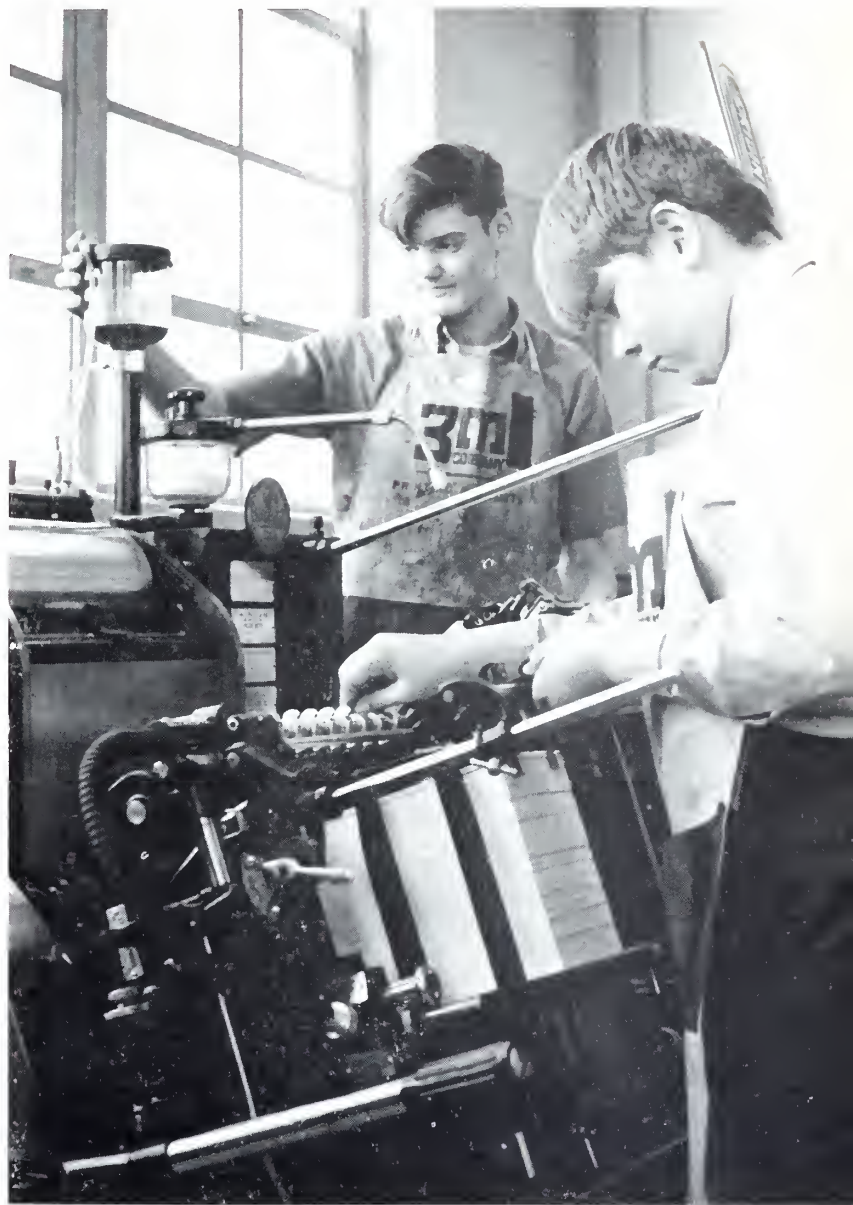

For the boy interested in engineering or architecture, the Industrial Arts Department offers background preparation. This department also prepares many boys for jobs in industry.

The five types of shop offered at Manual — wood, metal, electric, machine, and auto — give necessary basic instruction to boys for further work in specialized industrial fields. The students work on individual projects and complicated problems which make them think and work things out for themselves. Well qualified instructors are, of course, standing by. Pupils of the print shop study fundamentals of printing and learn varied type-faces. They supply the main office with forms, and school organizations with tickets, posters, and programs.

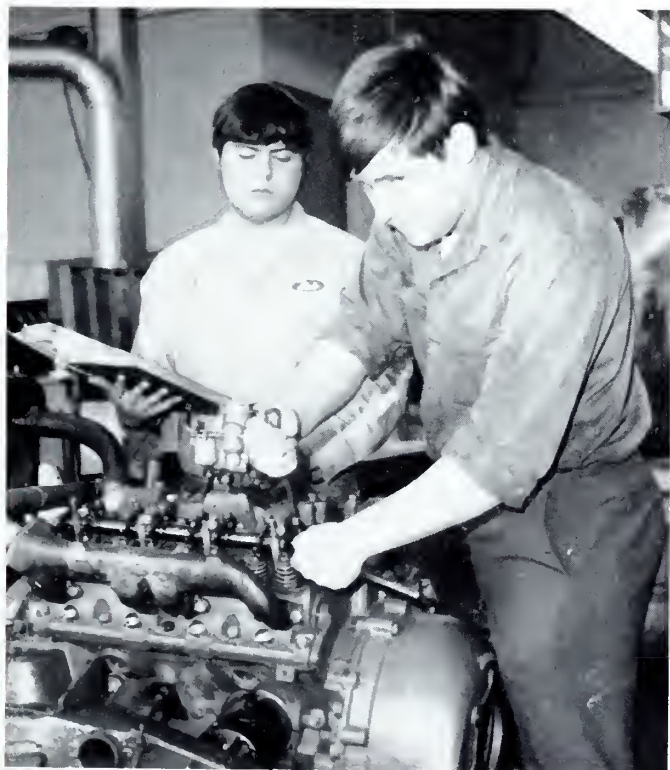

For boys entering the field of drafting, mechanical drawing, a one-half credit course, develops the necessary skills and techniques. Architectural drawing covers house planning using the technology of building procedures and touches on landscaping.

In advanced auto shop, each team of boys must take apart and rebuild an engine as a project during each six-weeks' grading period.

Armed with the skills and background gained in Manual's shops, many grads go to good jobs in industry or advanced standing in technical schools.

In their printing class, Steve Krieger and Gary Foxworthy work with a Heidelberg Automatic Platen Press. Students produce forms used by Manual's office for keeping records.

Danny Jones works on an engine in his Auto Shop class. Bob Beach reads instructions from a mechanic's manual as Danny learns by doing as he makes adjustments to the distributor.

ROTC Wins 'Best Marching' Award

Manual's ROTC Battalion started the year with a victory, rating "best marching unit" in the city in a competition at Tech. Manual cadets placed second in the Veterans Day Parade. Ten "distaff cadets" were named sponsors. These girls assist with inspections, do office work, and represent Manual at other schools. New was a Girls' Drill Team which will perform in competitions.

Manual's Color Guard was selected to present the colors at Tech when the teachers met there at the beginning of school in September.

The Varsity Drill Team, commanded by C/Capt. Gaylen Fox, did an exhibition for the Ivian And and at the Indiana State Teachers Convention and competed in the various meets with other schools.

The Varsity Rifle Team placed third in the City Rifle Match. C/Capt. Gaylen Fox and C/Capt. George Burns made the Indianapolis "All-Stars," a team of the ten top firers in the city. George also serves as captain of Manual's group.

A highlight of the year was the Annual Military Ball, with "A Sign of the Times" as theme. Queen of the Ball was Honorary Cadet Becky Benjamin.

C/Lt. Col. James McDaniel, battalion commander, was nominated for West Point, and C/Lt. Col. Steve Hendricks was named an alternate to the Naval Academy. Steve was also a member of the Brigade Staff, a group of four cadets who help plan the program for all ROTC units in Indianapolis.

Spearheading the ROTC Battalion, in the Veterans Day Parade, is the Color Guard — Danny Burke, Jim Hiland, Kenny Mills, Wendell Ware — looking sharp in chrome helmets.

Posing proudly with the "Dr. Stanley Campbell Marching Trophy," which was won in competition at Tech, are C/Lt. Col. Jim McDaniel, C/Maj. Becky Benjamin, and C/Capt. Gaylen Fox.

'Phys Ed' Stresses Work, Fun in Class

The Physical Education Department includes more than mere exercise. Students not only get themselves into condition in the gym classes, but senior boys study Health, and any person of the proper age may learn good driving practices.

One year of gym is required of all students, but some go on with Advanced Physical Education. Boys practiced basketball, baseball, wrestling, and weight-lifting. Girls placed more emphasis on exercise that builds poise, such as dancing, building "human pyramids," and doing other mat exercises. Warmer weather brought softball games out of doors. Both girls' and boys' gym classes learn such sports as tennis and ping-pong.

Health, a required course for senior boys, teaches good health habits and nutrition. Students study the dangers of narcotics and alcohol.

Driver Education students learned road safety through films and class discussions, but learning did not stop with the textbook. Every student got to drive one of the two duo-control, driver-education cars every third day. Here students gained experience parking, driving in urban areas, and even traveling on the busy interstate.

Susie Hittle watches from the mat as Debbie Robertson balances on Debbie Pardue and Donna Stokes, aided by Mrs. Evelyn Potter. Judy Steele and Darlene Kidwell look on.

Boys in Advanced Physical Education try many sports. David Perryman watches Lewis Lasley jump for the ball during a game of table tennis. In the background golfers practice.

The end of the school day is the beginning of fun for activity-minded Redskins. After-school hours at Manual find students rushing to club meetings, rehearsing for a musical or dramatic program, planning field trips and parties, or adding finishing touches to a Booster story. Manualites have been working and playing together for 75 years, and high achievements in many fields have rewarded conscientious Redskins. This year has been fun, our

Diamond Year of Activities

Masoma's Ultra Active at Forty-six

Masomas — Carolyn Harding, Cathy Reed, and Kristie Parrott box in Roines member George Burns in a benefit basketball game between the two clubs. Each group claims a victory.

Masoma, one of Manual's oldest organizations, was founded in 1914. Again this year the Masomas filled their service records with helpful activities. Members presented a style show and special program for freshmen girls on the first day of school. A car wash provided money for a needy Manual family at Christmas time, and Masomas and Roines caroled for shut-ins, nursing homes, and a near-by orphanage. Masomas "trampled" the Roines in a basketball game, winning by only one point.

A Turnabout Dance, new this year, was sponsored by the Masomas in January. Other projects throughout the year included serving at the Fall Athletic Banquet and registering guests and selling the booklet, A History 1895-1969, at the Alumni Dinner.

The senior girls' honorary organization is based on scholarship, character, and service. Membership is by application only and requires the recommendation of two teachers and vote of the club. Under the leadership of two teachers, Mrs. Ida Rehm and Miss Grace Emery, the club was founded for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the school.

Officers this year were President Pat O'Connor, Vice-president Martha Norcross, Recording Secretary Marilyn Gorbett, Attendance Secretary Judy Roberts, Historian Patty Nevil, Treasurer Carolyn Harding. Mrs. Betty Baker, a Masoma alum, is sponsor.

Mr. Dennis Jackson, on the ladder, is affixing decorations to a cafeteria wall in readiness for a Roines "Romp." Assisting him are Bill Jarvis, Wayne Henke, and Frank Prindle.

Roines Helps Frosh Builds Big Wreath

Roines, senior boys' honorary founded in 1914, began this year helping freshmen boys learn about their new school. Sponsor is Mr. Dennis Jackson, who was a Roines member himself his senior year.

The huge Roines wreath, annually made and put up by the boys, appeared the week before Christmas, giving a festive appearance to the outside of the building. Also at Christmastime, Roines members caroled with the Masoma girls, visiting nursing homes and an orphanage. The two senior honorary groups met again in a Roines vs. Masoma basketball game, which the boys "let" the girls win by one point, depending on who's telling the story.

There were three Roines Romps this year, each featuring a popular Indiana group. "The Boys Next Door" and "The Idle Few" were two of them.

Roines pledges went through playful hazing, wearing the Roines ties, carrying their books in plastic buckets, and singing and performing for actives.

At the "Roines Rinse" booth at the Pow Wow, students with good aim could dunk a Roines boy.

Officers are President Robby Steele, Vice-President Bill Kaiser, Secretary Gaylen Fox, Treasurer George Burns, and Historian Rick Shrewsbury.

New senior officers of the National Honor Society are Treasurer Becky Rogers, President James McDaniel, Vice-president Janet Hoffmeister, and Secretary Martha Norcross.

Top Seniors, Juniors Rate Honor Society

The Manual Chapter of the National Honor Society was installed in 1956 to honor students with high scholastic achievement. Some 725 Manualites have now become members. Thirty-three seniors and fifteen juniors were initiated into the Society this year, to join the ten hold-over seniors who were initiated last year. To be eligible, a senior must have a 6.125 grade average, and a junior, a 6.725 average. The faculty-evaluated candidates must also excel in character, leadership, and service.

During a "ribbon ceremony," March 11, the names of pledges to the Honor Society were read, and each person was characterized in verse. Active members of the Society presented each newly elected junior and senior a ribbon cluster of four different colored ribbons: red, service; gold, scholarship; purple, leadership; and white, character.

President James McDaniel administered the National Honor Society oath to all members and pledges at the formal initiation, May 10, in the auditorium. Each new member lighted a portion of the Honor Society torch. The ceremony was followed by a tea in the library. Mr. John Krueger is sponsor.

SAB Contest Produces Anniversary Slogan

Student Affairs Board, made up of 20 Manualites with representatives from each of the four grades, met twice a month in the Conference Room during the school day, with meeting times rotating through the periods. This group not only acts as mediator between students and teachers but also sponsors and oversees many important school activities, such as the election of Homecoming royalty in the fall, and of Pow Wow candidates in the spring.

An important activity of SAB this year was sponsoring a slogan contest for Manual's seventy-fifth anniversary. The numerous entries were judged by the Board members' reading them all at a meeting and then voting. Fifteen dollars was awarded for the cooperative efforts of four Cub Clubbers, whose slogan was "Seventy-five years and still the best, Thanks to Redskins' zeal and zest."

The Suggestion Tee Pee, where students can drop improvement ideas was located in the bookstore.

SAB officers were President Eric Frey, Vice-President Vicki Steele, Treasurer Eric Smith, and Secretary Debbie Bowles. Sponsors were Mr. Harold Baumer, Mrs. Marilyn Dever, and Mr. Wayne Spinks.

Cub Clubbers — Lynn Janke, Margaret Maxwell, Cathy Noe, and Vicky Holland — collaborated to win the Seventy-fifth Anniversary slogan contest sponsored by the Student Affairs Board.

Thespians Try Theatre in Half Round

Lawyers for the defense, Dale Petrie and Wayne Henke, look over some surprising new evidence sold to them by a mysterious woman, Sheila Betzler, in "Witness for the Prosecution."

Actors from Mask & Wig and National Thespians combined to present two plays this year. The first, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," a melodrama, was performed in the cafeteria and followed by a dance. The second was a suspenseful mystery, "Witness for the Prosecution," presented in the Band Room.

Mask & Wig, a club which dates back to 1936, provides an opportunity for students who have an interest in dramatics to do some acting. The experience obtained in the plays enables the performers to work from small parts to leading roles. After a production, the members meet and evaluate the performance, hoping to improve the next. Miss Maurcen Northcutt is the new sponsor this year.

Advanced dramatists may become members of the National Thespians Society, which is sponsored by Mr. Fred Bennett. Thespians is an honorary drama club, requiring a "B" average and junior or senior class standing for membership. To apply, a person must also have accumulated ten honor points through 100 hours of work. This work can vary from selling tickets to having a major part in a production. Manual's Thespian Chapter is fifteen years old, having been officially chartered in 1955.

Claudia Sutherlen, in jury box, listens as Bill Jarvis, a doctor witness, is questioned by Prosecutor Charles Wolfe about blood found on the defendant's sleeve. Clerk Roberta Okey and Judge Rodney Lomax watch proceedings; lawyers Mary Merrit, Wayne Henke, and Dale Petrie listen.

Villainous Munro Murgatroyd, (Wayne Henke) plots to marry sweet Nellie Lovelace and gain control of the railroad.

Wealthy Mrs. Upson Asterbilt (Nita Horn), in "Dirty Work At the Crossroads," came to stay at Nellie Lovelace's farm for rest and recuperation with her daughter and French maid.

"Mookie Muggins" (Rodney Lomax) is a loyal hired hand of Nellie Lovelace (Jeanette Bair). He knows that Munro Murgatroyd, posing as an artist, is not to be trusted. Mookie proves himself by rescuing Nellie when Munro ties her to the railroad tracks.

Ida Rhinegold, (Joyce Thompson), belle of the music hall, was saved by Adam Oakhart, (Bruce Haddix), a brave, bashful hero. Ida was secretly married to the villain who was trying to kill her although she had been helping him with his schemes.

Cafe Dubs as Night Club for Show, Dance

Disc Jockeys James Harris, Wendell Stewart, and Eric Wright announce and play hit records at the dance in the cafeteria after the three-act play, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads." This was an innovation for a dramatic group.

Artisans, Engineers Man Stage, Radio

Stage Manager Dennis Myrick talks over the intercom to persons in the projection booth about lights and sound while John Goff waits for instructions. Displayed on the wall are trophies honoring contributors to stage productions.

The Stage Crew and Radio Club play an important part behind the scenes for many Manual functions and often do not receive the credit they deserve.

The stage crew works hard, doing stage sets, and sometimes properties, for all the dramatic and musical productions, the Redskin Revue, the 3A-3B And programs, and everything else done on the stage. Controlling lights, sound, and curtains are the important responsibilities of this group. Many get their training in Stage Craft classes, taught by Mr. Carl Wright, Director of Productions.

Any student may belong to Radio Club, whose purpose is to teach about public speaking, radio broadcasting, and radio engineering. Among other things, members learn how to get Federal Communications Commission licenses. Radio Club members broadcast music, announcements, weather, and occasional skits on station WMHS, Manual's closed-circuit station, for about a half-hour before first period each morning. Members often act as disc jockeys for dances such as the "Pic Parade," to make money for new records. Club meetings are once a week, with sponsor Mrs. Rebecca Soendlin.

Station Manager Greg Roberts, Announcer Audrey Ecton, and Program Director Mike Mitchell are setting up announcements for a morning show that is on air before school each morning.

Choir, Orchestra Fuse Talents for Programs

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Wendell Mertz, performs at the Choir and Orchestra concert in January.

The Manual Choir and Orchestra performed many services for Manual and the local community during this year. They joined forces to present "Bells Are Ringing" as the annual musical show. They also combined for a joint concert in January.

The Orchestra entertained with a series of concerts at neighboring grade schools under the director, Mr. Thomas Dick; and the group provided music for the Honors Day program at the close of school. Musical highpoint of the year was the May Festival in which the orchestra performed with all the other music groups. The Orchestra concluded the year with the program for Senior Vespers.

Under the direction of Mr. Wendell Mertz, the choir made its debut by Christmas caroling for the Downtown Promotion. They also sang for the May Festival, All-City Choir Festival, and Vespers.

Band, Glee Club Keep Busy Entertaining

"Mr. K" — Mr. William D. Kleyla — has directed Manual's bands and been Head of the Music Department since 1953.

The Redskin Marching Band was the "Outstanding Band of the Day" in the Indiana School Music Association Marching Contest. The Band proudly carried home the "Grand Sweepstakes Award" and its sixteenth consecutive First Division rating.

Under the direction of Drum Major Mike Christy, the Band performed at football games and marched in the Veterans Day Parade. The Band played for the lighting of the giant Christmas tree on the Circle, and the launching of balloons for "Cleaner Air Week." Seniors planned a football half-time show dedicated to Mr. William Kleyla, director. The Band presented a Christmas Concert for the P-TA.

The Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Martha Cross, combined with the Band for the Band-Glee Club Concert. The Glee Club also sang for both the Thanksgiving and Christmas auditorium programs.

Twirlers Sparkle in Silver Sequins

The Redskin Warriorettes marched with the Band in many performances. The girls made a flashing appearance this year with their new uniforms of silver sequins that sparkled under the lights of the football stadium. Sharp-looking black knee-high boots and black shakos completed the outfits.

Various instrumentalists of Band and Orchestra form small performing groups. The Redskin Revue Pit Band was made up of piano, string bass, and members of the Band. The Pep Band is a small group of Bandsmen who perform at home basketball games and really spark the fans' enthusiasm.

Ivian Spotlights Our Seventy-fifth Year

Among the hardest-working groups at Manual is the Ivian staff. Many hours of hard work are put into the yearbook, including week-ends and vacations. The work involves everything from sales campaigning to writing copy and proofreading.

Ivian Co-editors Kathy Gabonay and Nancy Hendricks started collecting ideas last summer at the Journalism Institute at Indiana University. Here the general layout of the book was started and the theme was decided. This year's Ivian was special. The staff was covering the event of Manual's seventy-fifth year of existence. The theme of the book is centered around the Diamond Anniversary.

The sales campaign started with a 3A-3B Auditorium. The theme of the program was "Up With Manual," and the show gave the students a preview of what would be covered in the yearbook.

Most of the Ivian pictures were taken and printed in Manual's own darkroom by student photographers. Seniors Bill Hancock and Rick Shrewsbury, and younger apprentices. The advertising section, a major source of income, was edited by Jan Hoffmeister. Assisting her were Pat Miller and Jeff Moore.

Ivian Co-editors Nancy Hendricks and Kathy Gabonay, trying to meet deadlines, sort pictures and decide which ones to use with the help of Sports Editor Bill Jarvis.

Rick Shrewsbury adjusts the enlarger in the publications' darkroom as Bill Hancock checks a strip of negatives. These two seniors are responsible for most of the photos in the Ivian.

'Booster' Does Just That for All Activities

Manual's weekly newspaper dates back to 1912 and has been in continuous publication since that time. This fall the Manual Booster went to offset printing. This enables the paper to run more pictures because the cost of engravings has been eliminated. Now the make-up can vary more as not only a five column name plate is used but also a three-column one. Most Manualites seemed to like the "news-papery" appearance of the "new" Booster.

A new George Washington Honor Medal, which carried an award of $100, was added to the Booster's collection of nine of these medals and two plaques. This came from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge and was won by an editorial.

Editor-in-Chief John Doyle, attended Journalism Institution at Indiana University during the summer 1969 to make plans for stories and editorials for this year's paper. The Booster is extra-curricular, and staffers spend time in the publications' office during free periods during the day. After-school hours are often necessary to meet the pressure of deadlines and get to press on time.

Freshmen interested in journalism join Cub Club which meets each Monday afternoon. By second semester many Cubbers are added to the staff.

Members of Cub Club are hard at work reading galleys for the Booster. Joe Krich, Margaret Maxwell, Beth Mullen, Miss Dorothy Powell, their sponsor; David Hebble, and Cathy Noe are seated at the table. Standing are Vicki Holland, Lynn Janke, and Jim Engelking.

Manual Quill and Scroll Hosts 'Press Day'

Some 376 journalists and their sponsors from schools throughout the Indianapolis metropolitan area attended the sixth annual Quill and Scroll "Press Day," hosted by Manual's chapter on January 24. The day started with a convocation in the auditorium, followed by on-the-spot writing contests covering many phases of journalistic writing. Photography contestants registered pictures as they arrived. Lunch was served in the cafeteria, preceded and followed by workshops in all fields of communications conducted by professionals.

For the final session, during which contest winners were announced, the choir group, "The White River Bridge," entertained with several vocal numbers accompanied by Rodney Lomax, on guitar; Marilyn Gorbett, piano; and Dave Hodges, on drums.

Guest speaker for the opening convocation was Dr. Willmer Counts, professor of photography from Indiana University.

Rodney Lomax provided entertainment on his guitar while the judges deliberated on who would receive the trophies.

Language Clubs Hear of Foreign Travels

Spanish Club Treasurer Pat Jimison discusses the colorful art of bullfighting with President Pat O'Conner, Vice-President Roberta Okey, and fellow Member Jim Crowe.

Students enrolled in foreign languages find time to enjoy the language outside of the classroom.

Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. Carsey Gentry, meets twice a month, and anyone who either is or has been enrolled in Spanish may belong. This year the club had several guest speakers. Miss Ann Manning, Spanish teacher, told about and showed slides of her trip to Spain in the summer, and students from the Honors Abroad program spoke about the countries they visited. Mr. Robert Snoddy played his Flamenco guitar for the group. Members occasionally put on skits in Spanish, and they have a fiesta at Christmas where they sing well-known Christmas carols in Spanish. The club participates in the Pow Wow, in a booth shared with Latin Club, and holds another fiesta in the spring, often going to a Spanish restaurant for dinner.

Mrs. Audrey Cronkhite is the sponsor of Latin Club, which meets every two weeks. Any Latin student may belong. This year Senior Robby Steele showed slides of his trip to Italy, and Joyce Thompson told about her trip to Mexico through the Honors Abroad program. Both trips were summer 1969. Latin Club members had a party at Christmastime, and sang traditional carols in Latin. Club officers are President Anne Hathaway, Vice-President Toni Duncan, Secretary Jean Ruoff, and Treasurer Elaine Eckler.

Anne Hathaway and Joyce Thompson (seated) look at a book about Mexico at the Latin Club meeting when Joyce told about her trip there through the Honors Abroad program. Behind them stand Members Elaine Eckler, Alan Smith, Jean Ruoff, Marilyn VanDyke, and Mrs. Audrey Cronkhite, club sponsor.

Tromping around Manual's snow-covered campus, members of the Naturalist Club with Mr. David Otto, sponsor, select ideal spots to plant flowers. The group planned to beautify the campus by putting in plantings of flowers in well chosen places.

Naturalists Prove Fans of Unusual 'Rock'

The Naturalists Club, sponsored by Mr. David Otto, changed its name this year from Science Club. This new name has sparked interest among students, who seem to be intrigued by the field of nature rather than "science." The membership rose sharply as "nature lovers" affiliated.

Trips included a visit to Monroe Reservoir near Bloomington, where "geologists" had a field day collecting rocks and fossils. They visited the Museum of Science and Industry and the Natural History Museum during a trip to Chicago. Past projects include making Christmas decorations to sell to add to their treasury. Members created the decorations from natural resources that are common such as leaves, nuts, seeds, and many other items. Pine cones were a favorite and were put together in the shape of miniature evergreens and sprayed gold. The club planted a "Block M" of red and white petunias in the innercourt of the campus. The plants were harbored in the greenhouse until it was warm enough to set the plants outside.

Officers of the group were President Alan Smith, Vice-president Brenda Weinberger, and Treasurer Theresa Marcum. The club met on Mondays.

Sophomores Nancy Hedges and Beth Housam use their creativity to make a Christmas tree of gilded pine cones affixed to a styrofoam base to sell for their club's yule project.

Artists, Printers Develop Creativity

Art Club Members Michael Vaughn, Vera King, Bette Lasley, and Tom Thacker board the bus for a field trip to "Oldfields." Owned by the Art Association, it is filled with art objects.

Artists who have interests in specific media of art like to belong to the Art Club. The club gives art students a chance to do projects that can not be done in class because of their size, the time necessary, or the materials required. Among these projects are oil paintings, ceramics, plaster carvings, and photography. The members have worked with batiks and have also tied and dyed curtains and shirts. The club meets every Monday after school.

The Art Club has taken two field trips to the Herron Art Museum and one to "Oldfields," a mansion that is owned by the Art Association and has a large and varied art collection. The house was designed after the Palace of Versailles. The members also went to Chicago where they visited the Art Institute and Oldtown. Mrs. Kay Clay, sponsor, accompanied them on their trips.

The club sponsored a booth in the Pow Wow in which members did body pointings with tempera.

The Future Printers Club acquaints its members with the communications industry. Sponsored by Mr. Marvin Thorpe, the printers do printing such as tickets and programs for school functions. This group of boys, many of whom are interested in entering the field of printing, visit printing plants to get a first-hand view of the industry.

Richard Patterson is painting in oil at Art Club as Tony Duke and Pat Laydon work with craft arts materials. The Art Club members work in whatever medium they prefer at meetings.

Y-Teens, Tri-Hi-Y Learn Service Pays

Y-Teens and Tri-Hi-Y are service clubs. They provide experiences that help teen-age girls to mature. The underlying feeling is that if one is to be happy he must do things for others, and these clubs offer many such opportunities.

This year members of the Y-Teens followed the program of helping others by "adopting" eight inter-city girls, about age ten. They sent greeting cards to the girls, and took them on a special outing to the circus in the spring.

At Christmastime the Y-Teens sang carols in a nursing home. They also had a candy sale this year, attended a slumber and swimming party at the YWCA, and participated in the Pow Wow. The club meets Wednesdays, with Mrs. Betty Warner, sponsor.

Tri-Hi-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Viola Hyndman, was also very busy. Members made place mats and tray decorations for a nursing home, and they gave baskets of food to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Girls also made cancer pads. At Sectional time they sold red derbies to fans. This club sponsored two booths at the Pow Wow, also.

Y-Teens' Pow Wow committee — Theresa Allen, Janice Hardy, Linda Moore, Scarlett Harden, Mrs. Betty Warner, sponsor; Pat Johnson, Maxine Clinard, and Melanie Britton — make plans.

Members of the Tri-Hi-Y gathered in the foyer of the auditorium to sell derbies before and after school each day during Sectional week. Red hats liberally dotted Manual's cheering section.

Citizen's League members, Alan Smith, Margie Westerfield, Leslie Cooper, Donna Laestch, and Beverly Sherrod, formed the League's Pow Wow committee, discussing ideas for a booth.

Beverly Pillow, Greg Roberts, and Rita Covington, members of Future Teachers of America, look over copies of the National Education Association Journal, a magazine for teachers.

The Future Business Leaders of America, with Mrs. Irma Farthing, their sponsor, participate in a club discussion of plans for an out-of-state field trip. Chicago was being "eyed," with the Museum of Science and Industry, Field Museum, and Chinatown in mind.

'Citizens,' FTA, FBLA Look Ahead

Students with ambition join clubs that help them prepare for adult life and future employment. Three clubs are Citizen's League, Future Teachers of America, and Future Business Leaders of America.

Citizen's League meets on alternate Thursdays. The club's purpose is to instill citizenship enthusiasm, and anyone may belong. Members have worked on a history of the school and participated in the Indiana Historical Society meeting at Spring Mill. Outside speakers and field trips help promote an awareness of what the social studies are and their importance to the student's personal life. Sponsors are Mr. Homer Travelstead, Miss Margaret Consodine, Mr. James Fuqua, all social studies teachers.

Future Teachers of America meets one period a month to help students develop an interest in teaching. Club members discuss the problems and satisfactions of the teaching profession. These students made the name tags for American Education Week Open House and helped out on Alumni Day this year. Miss Margaret Consodine is the club sponsor.

Future Business Leaders of America acquaints students with the business world and prepares them for employment. Anyone enrolled in a business subject may belong. FBLA members are responsible for the Honor Roll charts hung in each Home Room. Early in the year the club had a speaker from Indiana Health Careers, who provided information on employment in this field. Mrs. Irma Farthing is sponsor.

Block 'M' Men Work for MS Drive

For the second year the Lettermen's Club participated in the Multiple Sclerosis drive. Members placed canisters and posters in different community stores to receive contributions.

The club also planned a meeting for freshmen boys on their first day at Manual. Tom VanArsdale, a '61 graduate, now a professional basketball player for the Cincinnati Royals of the NBA, was the featured speaker. He talked on the value of getting into high school athletics. Movies of Redskin sports activities were also shown to acquaint the boys with Manual's athletic program.

Members of the Block M Club wear their sweaters on Fridays. This year the club bought tee shirts with "Manual Letterman" printed across the front because the regular sweaters are uncomfortable during hot weather. Meetings are the first Friday of the month at 7:30 in the Teachers' Cafeteria.

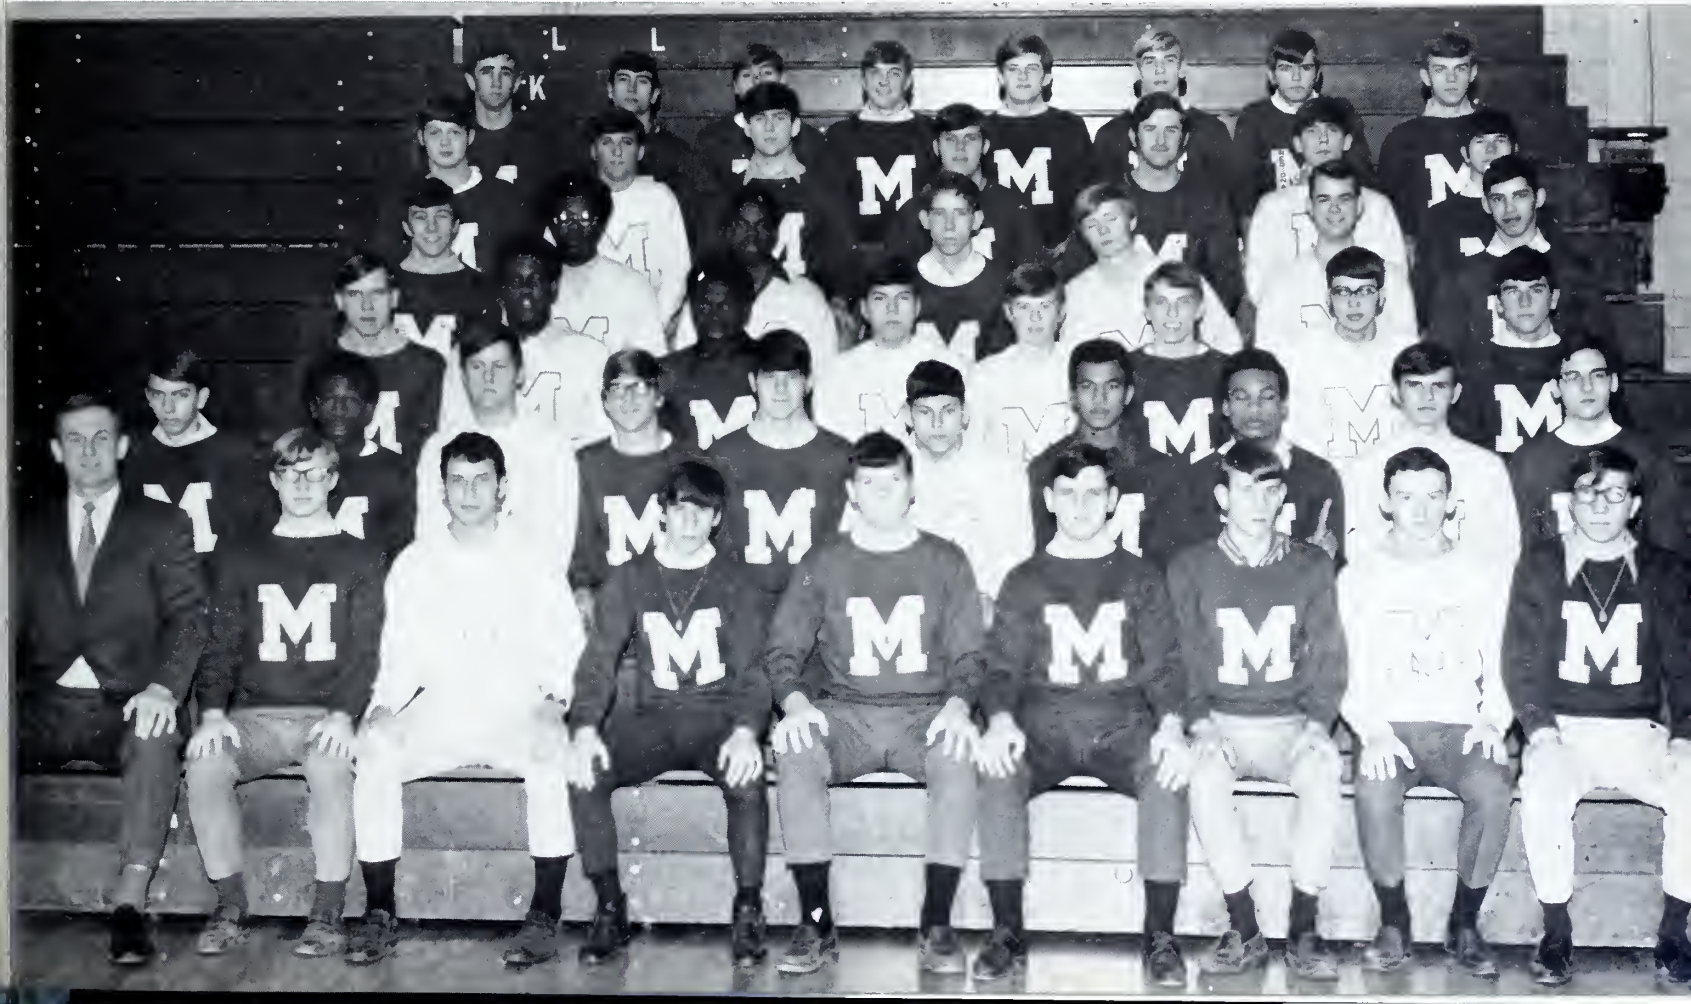

The club sponsored an after-game dance and also manned the basketball toss at Pow Wow. Last activity of the year was an outing to Brown County.

Officers are President Eric Frey, Vice-president Darrell Sparks, Secretary Frank Prindle, and Treasurer Danny Craig. Sponsor is Mr. Ray Schultz.

Jade Butcher, IU football star and chairman of "Students against Multiple Sclerosis," explains the MS drive to Lettermen Eric Frey and Darrell Sparks and Mr. Ray Schultz, sponsor.

Manual's sports program, like the school, started 75 years ago with football and baseball. Now eight major sports keep Redskin athletes carrying the red and white year around and other sports-minded students following the ups and downs of those warriors with loyalty and enthusiasm. A sound mind should be accompanied by a strong body, and it has been Manual's purpose to develop both, in this, our

Gridders Lose but Retain Enthusiasm

Junior Merritt Gurley races around end in an attempt to keep out of the clutches of a pursuing Arlington tackle.

Manual had another disappointing 0-8-1 football season. Although the 'Skins failed to win, much spirit and enthusiasm were evident among the team.

Next year the team will have an experienced starter at every position. Also the Redskins will have one of the most experienced backfields in the city returning. This year Manual had a much improved defensive squad which was made up of many fine underclassmen who should benefit from experience for the upcoming school year.

The lone tie of the season came in the last game against Wood. Junior Merritt Gurley slipped across from the two-yard line to knot up the game at 6-6. Wood missed on three consecutive field-goal attempts in the closing minutes to keep from winning the contest which was played in the mud.

Manual was knocked off in her season opener by Roncalli, newly created by the merger of Kennedy and Chartrand High Schools, 14-6. Gary Cannon ran 60 yards in the third quarter to tally Manual's only TD. The 'Skins got inside the 10-yard line two other times but could not make the end zone.

Washington stymied the Redskins' hopes of a victory with a 12-7 win on their home field. The 'Skins scored on a 67-yard dash by Merritt Gurley, and Gary Cannon booted the PAT.

The Redskins ran into the Howe Hornets in the third game of the season and felt a 22-8 sting.

Kicking off the football season was an after-school Pep Session in the inner campus. Led by the Redskin Band, students circled the walks and then cheered a "send-off" for the team led by the Varsity cheersters. Those in the picture are Ilze Berzins, Vicki Steele, Sandy Robinson, and Debbie Baker.

Gary Cannon found an opening in the defensive line and scored from three yards out. Roosevelt Owens capped Manual's scoring on a run for two points.

Highly regarded Cathedral tamed Manual in a 36-8 victory on the home gridiron. Merritt Gurley scored the TD while Doug Cothron ran the ball around end for the two-point conversion.

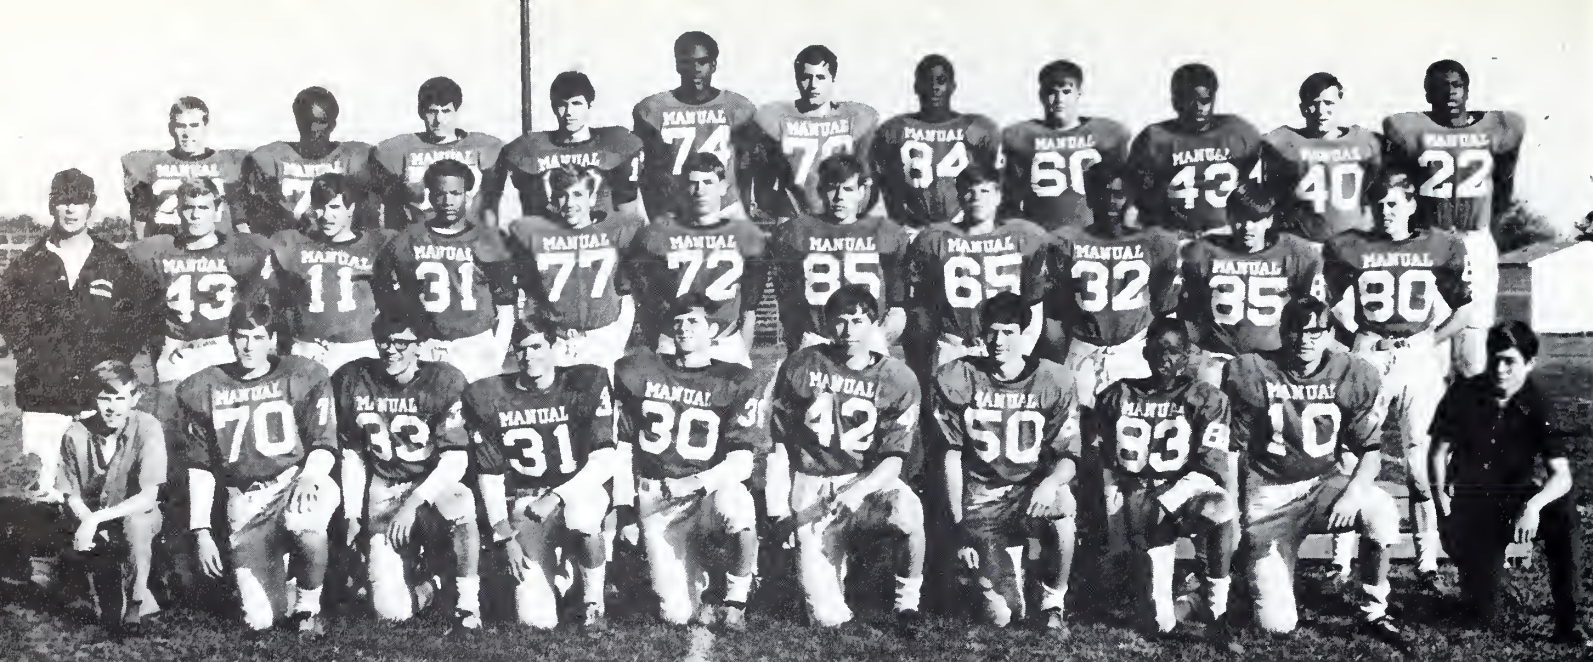

In the next four games, the 'Skins went scoreless and were defeated by Arlington 34-0, Tech 19-0, Broad Ripple 20-0, and Southport 42-0.

Junior Varsity, Reserves Hit Even Keel

The Junior Varsity Squad ended the season with a 3-3 record. This team, which was just originated last year, is designed to help players gain valuable experience through more playing time.

The Reserve squad ended the season with a 3-2-3 record. Wins came over Roncalli, 35-6; Tech, 14-6; Broad Ripple, 22-6; and Columbus, 16-8. The 'Skins fell to Howe, 10-8; and Cathedral, 35-8; and tied Washington, 6-6; Arlington, 21-21; Southport, 8-8.

Freshman football squad closed out the season with a 6-1-2 record and placed third in City Competition. This is the best freshman performance since 1957, the year the team was undefeated and was City Champ. The only loss was to Cathedral and ties came with Tech and Broad Ripple. Wins included Roncalli, 18-10; Washington, 6-0; Howe, 14-0; Arlington, 6-0; Perry East Jr. High, 8-6; and Wood, 18-12. These gridders will be valuable next year.

A Manual ball carrier breaks up the center for a short gain against Wood. Manual tied Wood 6-6 in this last game of the season to bring the 'Skins record to 0-8-1. The field was a sea of mud as it had rained continuously throughout the day.

Harriers Jeff Adams, Tim Yates Share MVP

Junior Jeff Adams executes the stride which gained him MVP honors and tenth place in the Sectional. Jeff will be back next season to continue his winning pace for the Redskins.

The Varsity Harriers, burdened with a tough schedule, started the season on a slow pace; their first losses were to highly-rated Southport and North Central. Coach Al Pike's team finished with a meager 3-8 record but boasted several highlights during the season, including a fifth place in the City Meet and a fifth in the Sectional.

Before regular season action began, the cross-country runners competed in the Pike High School Hokum Karum Invitational. The 'Skins finished ninth of twelve teams, and the regular meets seemed to reflect this performance as the squad only beat Marshall, Beech Grove, and Broad Ripple.

The season looked better as Manual placed fourth of nine teams in the Secina Invitational, sixth of twelve in the Howe Invitational, the same in the Northwest Invitational, fifth of fourteen in the City, and fifth of twenty in Sectional.

Jeff Adams and Tim Yates were chosen co-MVP winners. Both will return next year. Birl Schilling and Blake Housam will also return to the Varsity. Major losses to the squad will be Bill Jarvis and Frank Baecher by graduation.

The Reserve and Freshman squads broke even finishing 5-5 and 3-3, respectively. These teams will contribute standouts Mike Lindsey, Terris Winstead, Jim Milhon, and Mike Fox to the Varsity.

Grapplers Win Two Sectional Crowns

The Varsity Wrestling squad finished with a 7-6 record, the first winning season since 1965. Next year's team should be strong in depth and ability as Coach Jack Foster lost only three matmen to graduation: Bob Brunnemer, Bill Kleis, and Mike Crafton. All three grapplers placed in the Sectional Tourney at Franklin Central, with Brunnemer and Kleis winning first places, and Crafton, fourth. Kleis and Brunnemer went on to place third in the Regional. Sophomore Terris Winstead also placed in the Sectional with a second and will be a top contender on next year's team. In the Varsity City Tourney at Arlington High School, Kleis wound up second; Brunnemer, third; and Winstead, fourth.

The Reserves, coached by Mr. Al Pike, won the City Championship after finishing a 7-6 season. They had two city champs: Karlow Tutt, 145-pound class, and Albert Munn, 155-pound class. Receiving second places were James Jimison, 123-pound class, and Crawford Spann, 155-pound class. Don Bossingham, 137-pound class, received a third, while Wendell Ware finished fourth at 175-pounds.

The Freshman Grapplers, under Coach Bob Hignite, boasted a perfect season of 9-0-1, for the first undefeated Freshman Wrestling Team in Manual's history. They finished third in the City with three City Champs: Pasto Sockley, 98-pound class; Terry Bevers, 107-pound class; and Eddie Owens, 137-pound class.

Coach Foster should have another winning season in '71 with five City Champs on varsity.

Senior Bill Kleis, 123-pound class, wrestles to victory over a Cathedral opponent with a cradle during the Sectional Tourney.

Varsity Basketball Scores a Winner, 13-10

Head Coach Fred Belser has just diagrammed a play for Reserve Coach Bill Rosenstihl and Freshman Coach Steve Witty.

Steve Dietz looks for an open Redskin to pass to after taking possession of the ball. Steve is expected to grab quite a few rebounds when he returns next season as a senior.

Roger Davis gets two points up close in the game against New Albany. Steve Dietz and Gary Short move for the rebound.

The Varsity Basketball Squad closed its season with a 13-10 record. The 'Skins tallied their best won and lost record in six years.

The team got off on the right foot, defeating Northwest for the third straight year, 81-72. Soon things began to look grim as the 'Skins lost five of their next six games. Cathedral whipped the 'Skins as did Roncalli, New Albany, Columbus, and Wood. Their only win came over Gerstmeyer, 64-50.

However, the Redskins won their next six contests and climbed into the winning column. Wins came over Lawrence Central, North Central, Ben Davis, Washington, Broad Ripple, and Roncalli. In the final game of the City Tournament Semi-final round the Cathedral Irish slipped by the 'Skins, 62-58. Powerful Tech had a hard time downing the Redskins who trailed by only a few points going into the last minutes. Shortridge also defeated the Redskins, 72-63.

Arlington was scalped, 78-70, as was Warren Central, 82-73. Howe, who had tremendous size and was in the state rankings during the regular season, fell 59-55. In the last game of the regular season, before a capacity crowd at the Southport gym, Manual fell, 69-57, to the arch-rival Cardinals.

Manual came up with a victory in the first Sectional round, beating Beech Grove, 68-58. The final game pitted Southport against Manual, but the 'Skins could not get back on top after a disappointing first half; the Birds won, 61-53.

This "heap" of Redskins is made-up of Varsity Cheerleaders Debbie Smith, Cathy Reed, Ilze Berzins, Debbie Baker, Vicki Steele, Sandy Robinson, and sitting in front holding the megaphone, Mascot Nancy Seyfried. Their red and white pom-poms, so colorful for many cheers, make a nice base.

The Manual squad totaled 1,543 points and allowed their opponents 1,526. This gave the Varsity an average of 67 points per contest.

Roger Davis was the team's top rebounder and also MVP. Roger averaged 21.6 points per game and finished as seventh leading scorer in the city. He scored 32 points against Northwest, 38 against Wood and North Central, and 40 against Roncalli in the Sectional, which tied the record for most-points-scored in a Southport Sectional game.

Gary Short, a four-year starter, had a career total of 1,046 points to place in the top five scorers in Manual history. Eric Frey received an award for hitting the highest free-throw percentage, and Greg Maxey, for making the most assists.

Reserves, Frosh Show Potential for Future

The Reserve Basketball Squad, under the coaching of Mr. Bill Rosenstihl, completed the 1969-70 season with an almost break-even 9-10 record.

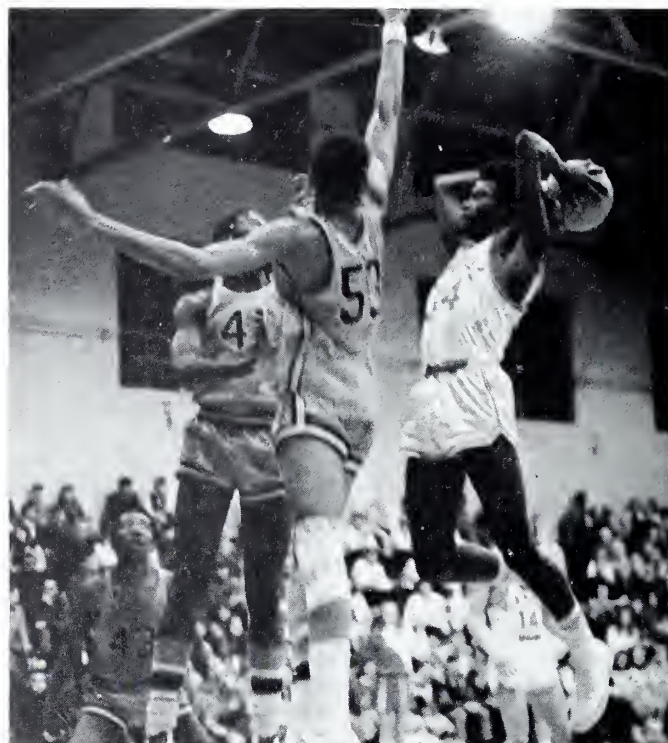

Victories were over New Albany, 49-42; Wood, 46-42; Lawrence Central, 35-31; Ben Davis, 58-51; Broad Ripple, 66-36; Warren Central, 59-33; Howe, 63-52; Shortridge, 60-39; and Arlington, 61-58.

Losses came to the 'Skins from Northwest, 48-35; Cathedral, 43-31; Roncalli, 47-42; Terre Haute Gerstmeyer, 49-48; Columbus, 64-49; North Central, 63-59; Washington, 41-39; Cathedral, 60-47 (City); Tech, 59-50; and rival Southport, 53-49.

The Freshmen, under Coach Steve Witty, compiled one of the best records Manual has seen in quite some time. The 14-4 mark was set by posting victories over Wood, 58-35; Marshall, 39-29; Shortridge, 39-46 (forfeit); Roncalli, 36-30; Secina, 47-38; Tech, 41-39; Broad Ripple, 59-34; Arlington, 42-29; Howe, 40-31; rival Perry Central, 51-50; Northwest, 41-39; and Cathedral, 52-49.

In the City Tourney the Frosh downed Cathedral, 56-50; and Shortridge, 47-46. Attucks downed the 'Skins 53-51 and later went on to win the City.

Other losses came from Washington, 51-31; Pike, 61-36, and Northwest, 54-36, in the Pike Tourney.

Roger Davis clicks for two more points even with two defenders guarding him. Roger was named the MVP for this season.

Reserve Cheerleaders promoted backing for the Reserve Basketball Team throughout the season. Posing with their "tools of the trade" are Judy Steele, Dora Stokes, Sandy Spaulding, and (standing) Debbie Robertson, Susan Hafer, and Janet Elrod.

Senior Lettermen Rick Stock, Mark Murphy, and Frank Prindle are part of the front line of the "Soul Block," a cheering section, which filled the bleachers at the east end of the gym.

Trammell 'Hurdles' Cindermen to 'State'

Mike Lock, one of Manual's top sprinters and short distance runners, finishes hard against a Washington opponent. The Redskin cinderman always placed high in those two events.

Manual's 1969 Varsity Track Squad turned in one of its best seasons under Coach "Mo" Moriarty, compiling thirteen wins, only one loss, and one tie. The Cindermen, who haven't had a losing season in twelve years, were led by MVP Wendell Trammell in both the high and low hurdles.

The Redskins won four medals in the Hoosier Relays while defeating their first eleven opponents of the season. Southport was the only squad to down the 'Skins; Warren Central registered the tie.

Falling to Manual were Chartrand, Seccina, Decatur Central, Ritter, Arlington, Howe, Columbus, Cathedral, Marshall, Ben Davis, Wood, Broad Ripple, and Washington, totaling "Mo's" 13-year record to 123 wins against only 44 losses.

The Cindermen finished a strong sixth of seventeen teams in the Sectional behind Hurdlers Mike Lock and Trammell, along with a third place in the long jump by Tom Thacker. Wendell placed second in the lows, one position ahead of Lock, and fourth in the highs, one position behind Lock.

In the Tech Regional, Wendell placed in both hurdle events to put Manual in sixteenth place out of approximately thirty schools. Wendell placed fourth in the highs and third in the lows, and represented the Redskins in the State Meet.

The Reserve Track Squad, along with the Freshmen Team, finished strong in the 1969 Track Season with 5-1, and 7-1 records, respectively.

Exhibiting both style and pose, Wendell Trammell helped form the nucleus of Manual's top hurdlers during the season

Stretching out for extra inches in the long jump, Junior Tom Thacker marks up another Redskin first in that event.

Senior Jeff McGuire, last year's MVP, hits one of his four home runs. McGuire was also the number one varsity pitcher with a 7-2 record. He was a great loss to this year's team.

Diamondmen, 16-6, Win Local Sectional

The 1969 Varsity Baseball Team ended its season with a record of 16-6. The Redskins captured the Sectional by beating Chartrand, 7-3. However, Manual lost the first Regional game to Howe, 2-0.

Senior Steve Brown was voted MVP for his ability in hitting and fielding. Senior Jeff McGuire, 1968 MVP, was the top pitcher for the 'Skins with a 7-2 record for 61 innings of pitching. McGuire struck out 77 batters while giving up 45 hits and walking 23. However, McGuire was out for a short time because of an arm injury.

Junior Eric Frey was the second pitcher for the team with a 6-3 record in 62 innings of play. At one time, Frey was listed as one of the best pitchers in the city with a 5-0 record. He took over during McGuire's absence. Frey struck out 69 batters, forfeited 43 hits, and walked 18.

Senior Second Baseman Garry Neumeyer was number one hitter with a .383 batting average. Senior Shortstop Steve Brown was second in hitting with a .351 batting average, while Senior Left Fielder Gary Smiley and Senior Pitcher Jeff McGuire followed, each having a .333 batting average.

Coach Fred Belser lost seven of his starting lineup to graduation. However, Eric Frey, Pat Cobb, Steve Breedlove, and Dan Broughton were all returning lettermen. Frey and Cobb were the only two returning starters, but Breedlove substituted often during the season.

The Reserve squad finished its season with a 7-7 record. Standouts in hitting were Rick Poynter with a .365 batting average and Dale Petrie with a .333 average. The Freshman did not fair as well as they finished their season with a 2-7 record.

Don Crafton, pictured below, and Wayne Shaw, above, played in Number 1 and 2 positions and were Number 1 doubles team.

Racketmen Swing To 9-8 Season Slate

The Manual Racketmen finished a tough 1969 schedule last year in a winning style, 9-8.

Don Crafton, the number one man, helped lead the team as he compiled a 6-6 singles record. This included an impressive win over John Thomas of Southport who was ranked second in the state. Filling in the second spot was Wayne Shaw, who only as a sophomore came up with a 3-8 slate. In doubles competition the number one team, Don and Wayne, combined for a 7-4 record.

Playing third was Mark Hedegard who came up with the best record on the squad, 9-4. In the Manual-Park School match, Mark played until 9:30 P.M. to give the Redskins a 4-3 decision over a highly respected Park team. In the slot behind Mark was Brent Riley with a 5-7. As the number two doubles team, Mark and Brent recorded a 5-7.

Steve Wheeler finished the season with an enviable 8-2 record. Tim Updike had a 3-1 showing while Teammate Mike Crafton had a 1-1 slate.

The squad had good balance never losing two consecutive matches throughout the entire year. Wins were over Chartrand, Wood, Northwest, Cathedral, Tech, Attucks, Marshall, Park, and Ben Davis.

Young Golfers Prepare for Next Year

While battling a tough schedule, the 1969 Tee-men, under Coach "Woody" McBride, formed a 6-16 record. The golfers, getting stronger through experience, posted victories over Wood, 12-0; Danville, 8-4; Greenfield, 7-5; Attucks, 10½-11½; Marshall, 6½-5½; and again Wood, 12-0. The team placed eighth of fifteen teams in the City Tourney and seventh of thirteen in the Sectional.

Losses came by the "clubs" of Chartrand, Tech, Northwest, Broad Ripple, Lawrence Central, Howe, Plainfield, Brownsburg, Ben Davis, Shortridge, Chartard, North Central, and Arlington.

Coach McBride, also head of the Physical Education Department, helped Sophomore Tom Klinge to a 36-stroke average for 9-holes. Tom was followed closely by Danny Brown, also a sophomore, with an average of 41. Two other strong competitors, Steve Butler and Ted Norman, both ended their seasons with 43-stroke averages. New members of the team were Freshmen Jerry Sheehan and Carl Sneff, who will add to the team in coming years.

The Teemen lost but one member, John Schible, through graduation. They look ahead to a better season in 1970 because of experience.

Showing form with their irons are Mike Jones and Tom Klinge who helped lead the Golf Team through an exciting season.

Intramurals Add Judo as 'Coed' Sport

Senior Tony Hollis drives in for two points to help his team, the "Undertakers," win the Intramural Basketball Championship by defeating the "Soulful Strutters," 74-32.

Pam O'Connor checks with sister Pat to see how her game is coming before she sends her ball down the alley. Both are members of the Manual League which includes boys and girls.

Having fun in intramural sports fills in leisure hours with good exercise for many Manualites. Two "coed" activities are bowling and, new this year, judo. Bowlers go by Manual bus to the Sport Bowl every Tuesday afternoon to "roll 'em," under the supervision of Mr. Fred Jones, sponsor. Keglers are organized into a league with trophies for "bests" at the close of their season.

So many Redskins turned out to learn the art of judo from Mr. Steve Sharpee, a "brown belt" and the sponsor-instructor, that the group was organized into the Judo Club. Several girls became enthusiastic members, "to learn self-defense."

Girls' gym instructors set up a year-around schedule of seasonal sports for girls — golf, archery, tennis, ping-pong, badminton, volleyball, and basketball. A "Varsity" team that played other schools resulted from the basketball. These included Roncalli, Southport, Beech Grove, Ben Davis, Speedway, and Marshall. When the Roncalli girls arrived for their game, they preferred volleyball — so the Manual girls obliged and switched and won.

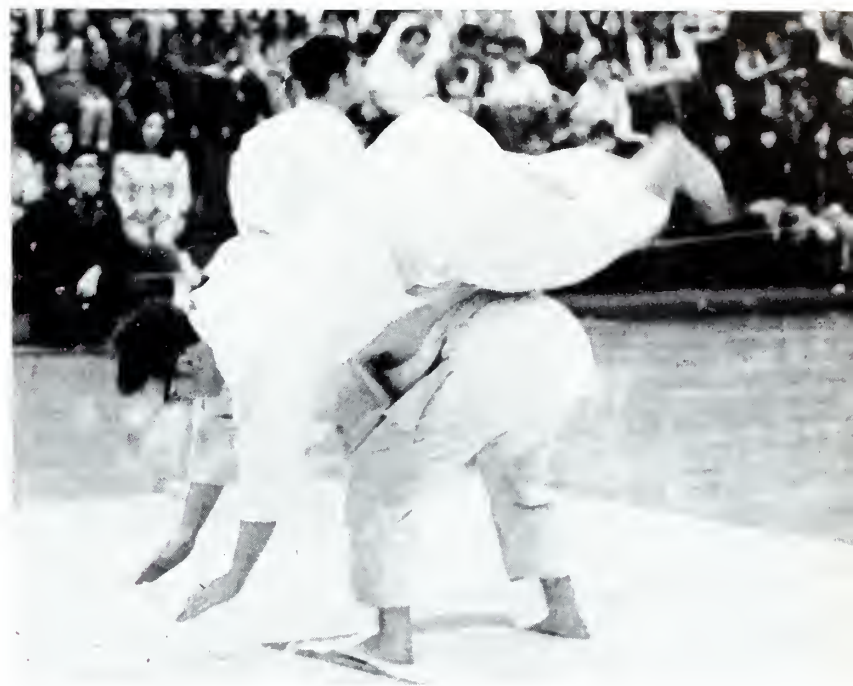

Boys participated in intramural basketball during the winter. They ended their season playing an elimination tournament, won by the "Undertakers."

Our school years are filled with familiar faces and friends — the kids on the bus, the group in lunch, the friends chatting in the halls before the bell rings. School is always much more than books and assignments. In classes, clubs, and other after-school activities, we learn to know persons who become a permanent part of our youth. Here are the faces of those who should be remembered in this our

Many Teachers Attend Alumni Celebration

Mr. Otto Kuehrmann and Principal Wayne H. Kincaid look at the scroll presented to Mr. Kuehrmann when he retired in January. Mr. Kuehrmann taught at Manual for 32 years.

The 124 Manual faculty members do more than educate the students. They also find time to attend school social functions and to sponsor clubs, dramatics, and athletic activities.

Many teachers attended the Diamond Anniversary Celebration at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on February 14, and Principal Wayne H. Kincaid had a part in the program. Fourteen members of the faculty are Manual graduates, and a fifteenth graduate, Mr. Otto Kuehrmann, retired in January. There are also eight other Manual alumni who work in the building. They help in the office, the bookstore, and the library.

English teacher Miss Carolyn Griffin undertook the task of writing a booklet about Manual's 75-year history, and this was sold to students and alumni at the time of the Alumni Birthday Party.

Some of the more athletic men teachers were members of the faculty basketball team. The "Fogies," who played the "Good Guys," disc-jockeys of radio station WIFE, in January, won handily.

Each of the many clubs and activities at Manual is sponsored by a teacher. He arranges and supervises meetings, field trips, and club projects. Pairs of teachers sponsor each of the Redskin Revue acts. Teachers also help with the annual Pow-Wow.

Miss Carolyn Griffin and Miss Charlotte Hafer check the copy for booklet, "Emmerich Manual High School, A History, 1895-1969." Miss Griffin is the author of the booklet which was written for the school's Diamond Anniversary. Miss Hafer typed the manuscript.

Bill Kaiser Wiolds Gavel for Class of '70

Class President Bill Kaiser calls the Senior Day meeting to order. Treasurer Donna Collier and Vice-president Eric Frey are seated behind him. Not pictured, Secretary Vicki Steele. After the meeting, seniors partied in the cafeteria.

Commencement, Class of 1970, concludes 75 years of service and loyalty to Manual by seniors.

The year began as the Constitution Committee ratified the Senior Constitution in early September. By the end of the month, seniors were campaigning for class offices. Bill Kaiser was elected president; Eric Frey, vice-president; Vicki Steele, secretary; and Donna Collier, treasurer. These officers and the nine Home Room Representatives comprised the Senior Council.

Seniors donned their "gay apparel" for Senior Day. Each member of the class wore an armband, designed by Classmate Willie Mundy, and a rose to distinguish him as a senior. In the late fall, Brown County State Park was the scene of the Senior Hayride; some one hundred took part.

Many seniors participated in Turnabout Day, part of American Education Week. James McDaniel, Steve Hendricks, and Greg Roberts became principal and vice-principals "for a day." Other class members served as department heads, class room teachers, office staffers, and special area directors.

At Sectional time the class backed the basketball team with a "Senior Sectional Scroll." In April, they square danced at "Redskin Round-up."

The most important part of the year for seniors came in June. Capped and gowned graduates attended Vespers and Commencement as a result of four years of fun and hard work. The Senior Prom, "A Time for Us," was at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Juniors Plan Activities, Trim Yule Tree

Junior Class President Dale Petrie, Treasurer Ilze Berzins, and Vice-President Wayne Shaw look on as Secretary Jill Ferris types up their plans for Junior Class activities.

The Class of '71 officially began its busy year with the election of officers on September 26, after two exciting weeks of campaigning. Candidates lined the halls with posters and their friends wore campaign badges. These newly-elected officers were installed in a P. A. ceremony during home room a few days later.

That same month, juniors collected the status symbol of upperclassmen, their class rings.

December 15, the juniors decorated the Manual Christmas tree, annually a gift of the Junior Class. It stood in the entrance hall at the foot of the main stairs. Everyone attended a Coke party afterward in the cafeteria.

Junior Recognition Day was March 3, and the halls were brightened by colorful Junior Day outfits. After school, everyone met in the auditorium for the announcement of the "Top Ten" juniors and then went to the cafeteria for a party.

Highlighting the year was the Junior Prom, May 2, at the Union Building of Indiana University Medical Center. The Prom King and Queen reigned over the dance; the theme was "Moonlight and Roses."

May 13 brought the last meeting as the Junior Class with Mr. Willard Henderson, their sponsor, to close an enjoyable and important year.

Here's the 'Long and Short of It' for 1970

Manualites find it convenient to patronize local businesses. Students with new driver licenses visit the shops or head for "drive-ins." Others find part-time jobs locally to earn spending money. Future homemakers learn good buying habits. Our business neighbors, many of whom display school posters and support our activities, provide us with quality products and service. We thank them now, in our

the question for any senior:

HOW DO YOU FIND YOUR PLACE IN THE WORLD?

The person who really has a place in this world is the person who knows how to do the jobs that need to be done. That person is useful. And because he's useful, he's wanted. He can make his own way and do his own thing.

The world is crying for young men and women who are trained in computer programming, secretarial skills, business administration and operation of business machines.

You don't have to have a four-year college education to master these sought-after abilities and skills. In less than a year at PORTER BUSINESS COLLEGE (an accredited school of business), you can complete your training in one of these — or other — business fields and be ready to step out and find your place in the world.

Spanning Manual's 75 years, Kathy Gabonay and Nancy Hendricks, the year-book editors, greet Mr. Charles E. Emmerich, Manual's first principal, during the Ivian auditorium program. As Mr. Emmerich (impersonated by Mr. Dennis Jackson) said, "Manual has been a great school down through all her 75 years." This has been a good one! So ends the story of
